Questions and Comments

- Curious about what's in former zipline area?
- All looks very cool
- Why is options 1 more expensive?
- Love the orca – looks cool – love all 3 (marine climbing structures)
- Kids love the orca
- Option #1 climbing structure – kids enjoyed ones at Highland Park
- Climbing tower looks awesome
- I like climbing stuff
- Option 1
- Overhead ladders – the best
- I like monkey bars and bouncy
- Considering rubberized surfacing?
- Big fan for accessibility
- Looks really good – like the extra climbing
- Like marine theme – orca goes well with it
- Willing to give up the sticks (metal twigs) to get the orca
- Sticks are cool, but orca more important if spendy
- Where to put the anchor? Will make recommendation to donor
- Don't really care about the sticks
- Really care about the orca
- Excited about the fossil seashells
- Kids love digging in sand – what about a whale fossil or larger bone?
- I like option #1 better – especially climbing and activity
- Will there be a sand area?
- Tower worth losing the sticks
- Love the bridge in option #2
- Who to anchor the bones in the sand?
- Wonder if play equipment is useful for senior's/other ages?
- Safety is most important
- Love options #2
- Kids like parent/tot swings
- Really like overhead ladders
- Age for parent/tot swings?
- Like climbing thing

- Both options look amazing
- Like the starfish
- What is orca made of?
- Made online comments about integrating sea creature into surrounding forest
- Lie this one better than the old one
- Love the rubber stuff at Highland Park
- Love Design #1
- Kids love slide at Jefferson Park - though vertical distance at end is high, kids pop off
- How many swings are there now?
- Swings are busy in summer; hard to get on them
- Possible to put swings on beach
- Swing for bid kids are nice for families picnicking
- Big kids use swings at Jefferson Park
- Haven't had problems with swings – kids can learn to take turns
- Kids like net climber
- What is the construction window?
- Parking lot/path work better in the fall
- Estimated life span of equipment
- Who maintains woodchips?
- Thanks for your thoughtful work
