February 6, 2017

Number 4

The City of Seattle is committed to being a safe, vibrant, interconnected, and affordable city.

Week Overview

Week four was filled with many hearings as we get closer to the first cutoff on February 17th. As of Friday, February 3rd, 1,975 bills have been introduced. Republicans appointed Rep. Shelly Short to fill Sen. Dansel's vacant seat, thus ending questions on the Senate Republican's control of the Senate. It was also announced that Rep. Shelly Short's vacant seat will be filled by her legislative assistant, Jacquelin Maycumber. Rep. Maycumber and Sen. Short will both have to run for their respective seats in November if they want to continue holding the positions.

How the Legislature will address the WA Supreme Court's McCleary Order continues to be a big issue in Olympia this year. Now that both parties have released their basic education funding proposals, the two sides are in the early stages of negotiations. Experts continue to analyze and compare the Republican and Democrat education-funding proposals.
