The City of Seattle is committed to being a safe, vibrant, interconnected, and affordable city for all.

Week Overview

Week eight was dominated by floor action and March 1st marked the halfway point of the 105-day session. On several days, at least one chamber continued floor activity well into the evening in order to get as many bills passed as possible. Legislators have until March 8th at 5pm to get bills passed off the floor in their house of origin or they will be considered dead. The exception as always is if a bill is deemed Necessary to Implement the Budget (NTIB). A significant number of bills have moved off the floor this week with many of them having very strong bipartisan votes.

Looking Ahead

The March 8th house of origin cutoff is the next milestone. Until then, legislators will spend Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday caucusing and on the floor to debate and vote on bills. Wednesday's house of origin deadline for floor votes mean legislators are working long days.

After March 8th, the House and Senate will move the opposite chamber's bills through policy committees, fiscal committees and then brings those bills to the floor for a vote. Towards the end of the session, bills with amendments adopted by the opposite chamber will be sent back to the chamber of origin to be rejected or approved into law with the changes. Any bill deemed NTIB (necessary to implement the budget) is exempt from deadlines. And even dead bills can be brought back to life through either extraordinary procedural maneuvers or creative amendments onto other bills moving through the process.

As a reminder, the second Councilmember Lobby Day is currently slated for Thursday, March 23rd. Council offices should please contact Jasmin Weaver to confirm their attendance.
