Why the City cares about industrial lands

- Accessible jobs
- Economic diversity contributes to resilience
- Activities that can't occur elsewhere
- Infrastructure investment

Current Comprehensive Plan Policies

- Use industrial land for industrial purposes.
- Restrict uses that may negatively affect the function of industrial areas.
- Preserve industrial land in proximity to rail and water-dependent facilities.
- Reduce the possibility of conflicts with adjacent less-intensive uses.

Mayor Durkan's Principles (2020)

- Using the power of local workers and companies to chart a blueprint for the future.
- Strengthening and growing Seattle's industrial and maritime sectors.
- Promoting equitable access to living-wage jobs through an inclusive economy and ladders of economic opportunity.
- Improving the movement of people and goods to and within industrial zones and increase safety for all travel modes.
- Aligning Seattle's industrial and maritime strategy with key climate and environmental protection goals.
- Developing a proactive land use policy agenda that harnesses growth and economic opportunities to ensure innovation and industrial jobs are a robust part of our future economy.
- Planning for the next generation of these lands as a key pillar for the Seattle of the future.

2017 Advisory Panel

- Full Panel met about 6 times, working group met more, sometimes every 2 weeks
- Working group developed draft recommendations
 - Add policies into the Comprehensive Plan making it harder to remove land from the Manufacturing Industrial Centers (MICs)
 - Address “loopholes” in industrial zones
 - Revise noise ordinance to favor industrial businesses
 - Increase funding for workforce training
 - Revive support for industrial businesses
 - Conduct area studies in Interbay, East Ballard and Georgetown
- The draft recommendations were not formally approved or adopted

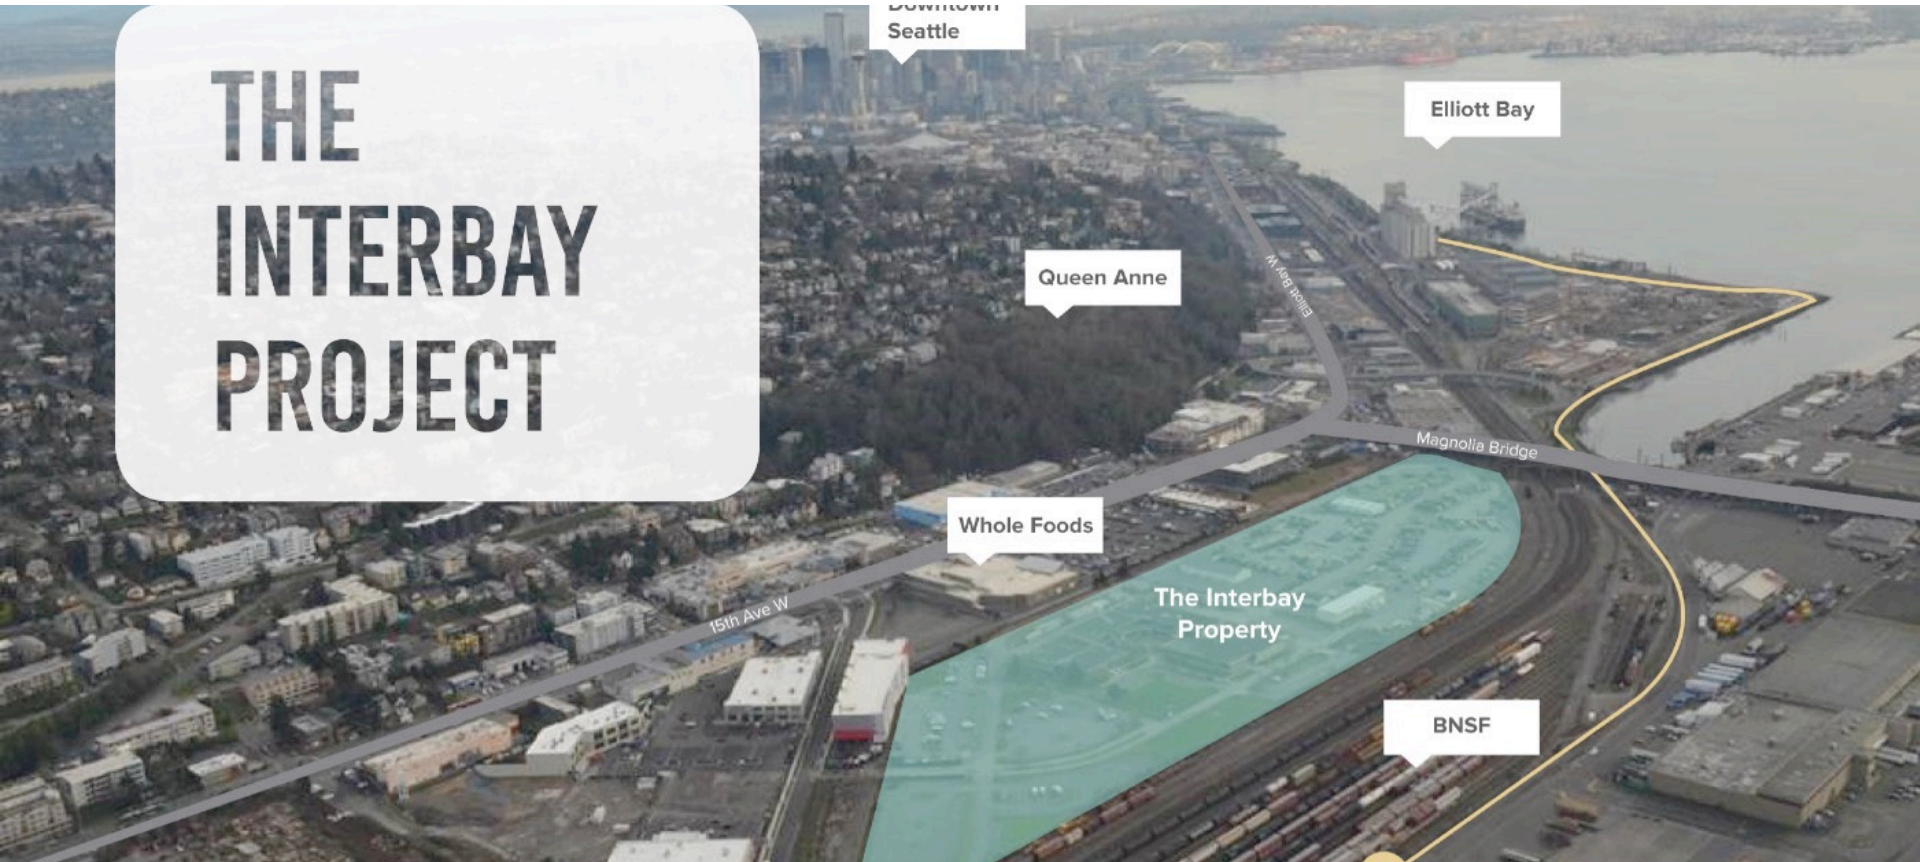

What's New

- All of the City's Manufacturing / Industrial Centers are included in the study area for a comprehensive approach.
- We encourage a future-oriented proactive approach.
- Subarea Stakeholders to address local issues (Interbay, Ballard, Georgetown, South Park, SODO).
