

ROOSEVELT LINK STATION OPENING SOON

Proposed Changes to On-Street Parking

WHAT IS GOING ON?

In September 2021, the Roosevelt Link Light Rail Station will open. Before the station opens, the Seattle Department of Transportation (SDOT) is proposing to update curb parking regulations for the surrounding area to ensure people who live, work, and visit can reliably access the neighborhood and future station. SDOT studied streets around the station and is proposing updates to some on-street parking in the area.

WHAT IS PROPOSED TO CHANGE?

To ensure the station and neighborhood are accessible and discourage all-day commuter parking in residential and commercial areas around the station, SDOT is proposing the following changes which are shown on the map.

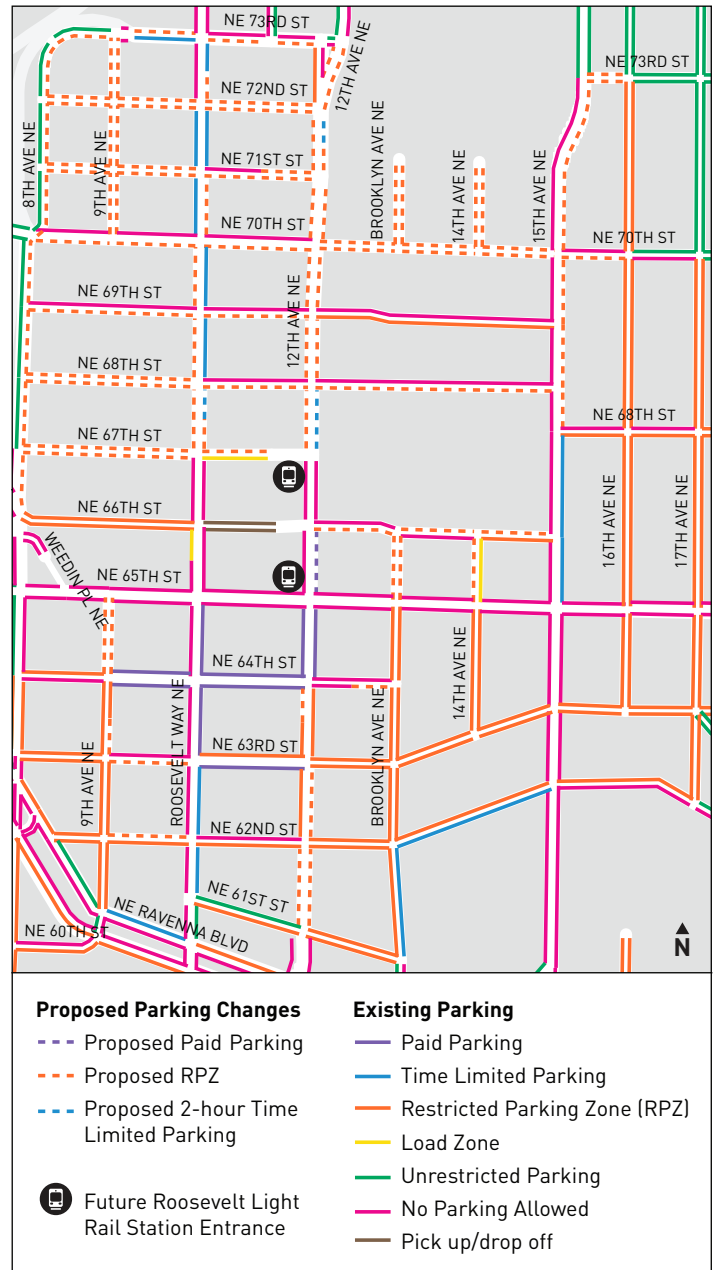

- Expand Restricted Parking Zone (RPZ) 19 to approximately a half-mile area around the station.
- Add paid parking to the east side of 12th Avenue NE just north of NE 65th Street.
- Changes will be made to bus stops that will affect on-street parking.
- Existing loading zones will be reviewed and maintained unless otherwise notified. If you would like to request a new loading zone, please contact northgatelinkparking@seattle.gov.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

Regulations on any newly-added Zone 19 blocks will match those on existing Zone 19 blocks, allowing parking for up to 2 hours for non-permit holders, Monday – Friday, 7 am – 7 pm. Residents who wish to park on-street for longer than 2 hours will need to purchase a permit. Before Zone 19 signs are installed, residents will receive information about how to apply for permits. Residents may receive up to 4 decal permits and 1 guest permit per household. Permits generally cost $65 for a two-year cycle. Income-qualified permits are available for $10 each.
