23RD AVE E VISION ZERO PROJECT

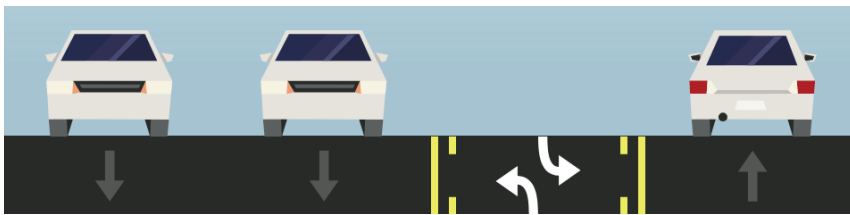

23RD AVE E VISION ZERO PROJECT

Construction starts this August

Crews working for the Seattle Department of Transportation (SDOT) will begin safety enhancements on 23rd Ave E/24th Ave E. This work is part of the City's Vision Zero Program. Learn more about the City's Vision Zero Program at www.seattle.gov/visionzero.

This project improves safety for people who drive, walk, bike, and take transit in the area.

We're designing 23rd Ave E/24th Ave E between E John St and Boyer Ave E by changing the 2 northbound lanes to 1 northbound lane and 1 center turn lane.

Travel lane Travel lane Center turn lane Travel lane

Construction schedule

Work will proceed in 3 phases and take at least 10 days and includes: crews marking changes, removing existing road markings, with noisy work from 9 AM – 7 PM, and installing signs and new markings from 7 AM – 7 PM

What to expect during construction

- 1 lane in each direction will be maintained, with occasional lane shifts to one side of the street
- Crews will work throughout the corridor at various locations and weekend work is possible.
- Slight traffic and transit delays
- Typical construction impacts like noise, dust, and vibrations

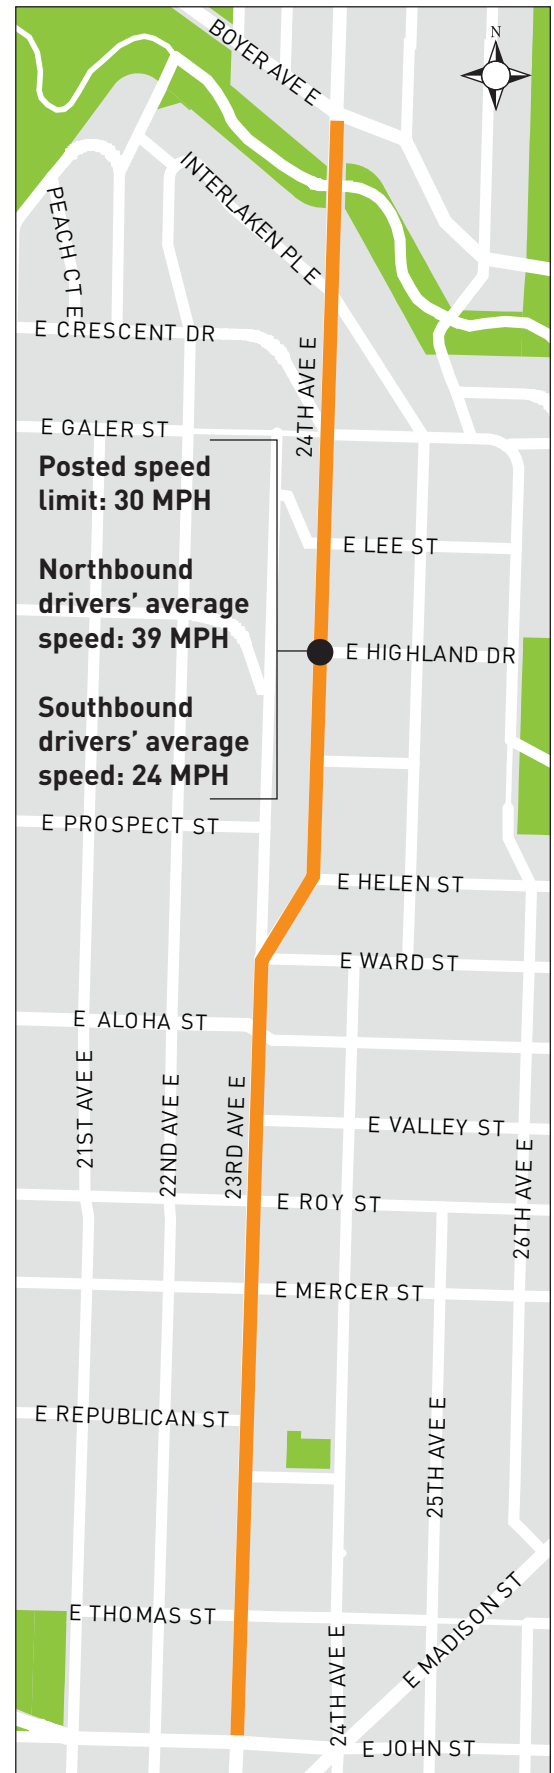

No planned detours or full road closures and transit stops will remain open.

What's next

Later this year, we'll add skid-resistant surfaces at intersections with high collision rates. Please check the project webpage for schedule details.
