LATE FILING AND UNDERPAYMENT PENALTIES

A tax form is not considered “filed” until a valid payment is received with the signed tax form. When tax is due for the period late penalties and interest are charged if the tax form and payment are not postmarked by the due date. If a return is received postmarked after the due date the following penalties will be added:

9% of the tax due amount if postmarked after the due date; or

19% of the tax due if postmarked after the last day of the month following the due date; or

29% of the tax due amount if postmarked after the last day of the second month following the due date.

When tax is due the minimum penalty will be $5.00.

NOTE: if no tax is due late penalty will not be charged.

Interest due on late payments will be calculated from the date due until the date paid. Use this formula to calculate interest: $(\text{annual interest rate}/360) \times \text{tax due amount} \times \text{number of days late}$. If the amount of tax paid is less than the amount due additional interest may be charged. If your return is underpaid or if there are additional amounts owing due to added penalties/interest, a Notice of Underpayment will be mailed for the remaining balance owed.

If your payment is dishonored by your bank, the City of Seattle will add an insufficient funds charge of $20.
