1	Question: Could you please share more details about the differences between the management services roster and project management roster? Is it okay for there to be overlap for the projects described in these two sections?	Answer: I do not have additional details on the difference between these two rosters aside from the eligible project descriptions in the application. It is okay if there is overlap in projects demonstrating you're between the two. I believe that the Management Services roster is more directly applicable to program evaluation and research, but both could apply.	11/19	11/24
2	Question: For the consultant roster application, it looks like we need to complete the company profile first. It requires us to select an NAICS. Do you have guidance on which NAICS code we should select?	Answer: I recommend using the NIGP human services research and evaluation code because that is a national/North American standard, but you may select whichever your organization determines is best suited. NAICS codes are used to determine eligibility for the Small Business Concern designation, so you may consult the size standards if this helps with your decision https://www.sba.gov/document/support-table-size-standards	11/20	11/24
