PREFACE

The City of Seattle is fully committed to the concept and practice of equal opportunity in all aspects of employment. The City of Seattle’s Department of Human Resources has prepared this Affirmative Action Plan in compliance with current federal regulatory requirements and is in effect from March 1, 2022 to February 28, 2023.

In the preparation of this Affirmative Action Plan, the terminology used in the Affirmative Action Program Executive Order 11246 and its implementation regulations has been used as a guide. The use of terms such as “underutilization,” “underrepresented,” “problem areas,” etc. should not be construed as an admission by the City of Seattle, in whole or in part, that, in fact, either minorities or women have been or are currently being underutilized or discriminated against in any way by the City in violation of federal, state or local fair employment practice laws. Nothing contained in the Affirmative Action Plan, or its supporting data should be construed as an admission by the City, in whole or in part, that it has contravened such federal, state or local employment laws.

In developing and implementing this Affirmation Action Plan, the City of Seattle has been guided by its established policy of providing equal employment opportunity (EEO). Any placement goals which the City has established herein are not intended as rigid or inflexible quotas that must be met. Rather, they are used as a diagnostic tool to evaluate the composition of the workforce compared to the relevant labor pools from which the City recruits. The use of placement goals in this Affirmative Action Plan are not intended to discriminate against an individual or group of individuals with respect to any employment opportunity for which they are qualified. Nothing herein is intended to sanction the discriminatory treatment of any person. The Affirmative Action Plan has been developed in strict reliance upon the Guidelines on Affirmative Action issued by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) [29 CFR, Part 1608] and the Department of Labor’s Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP) [41 CFR Parts 60-1 and 60-2 Government Contractors, Affirmative Action Requirements; Final Rule.]

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The City of Seattle is committed to equal employment opportunity and will continue to make good faith efforts to achieve a workforce that is a reasonable representation of the relevant labor market, consistent with and dependent upon the business conditions and number of placement opportunities that may occur.

In November of 1998, the voters of Washington State passed Initiative 200 (RCW 49.60.400). This initiative was an amendment to the existing RCW 49.60, Washington State's 1949 Law Against Discrimination in Employment "to prevent and eliminate discrimination in employment against persons because of race, creed, color or national origin." This Initiative added the following language: "The state shall not discriminate against, or grant preferential treatment to, any individual or group on the basis of race, sex, color, ethnicity, or national origin in the operation of public employment, public education or public contracting."

In January of 2006, the Washington State Legislature passed an amendment to the Washington Law Against Discrimination ("WLAD") that prohibits discrimination based on sexual orientation. Specifically, the prohibition on sexual orientation discrimination applies to all aspects of employment currently covered by the WLAD, including recruiting advertisements or job posting, application forms or pre-employment inquiries, hiring, discharge, and compensation or other terms and conditions of employment. "Terms and conditions of employment" include workplace harassment based on sexual orientation. Sexual orientation is also a prohibited basis for discriminating against individuals in non-employment business relationships, such as relationships with independent contractors or vendors.

The 2018 American Community Survey (ACS) Census code data are used by affirmative action planners for establishing workforce availabilities was used to update the City's system for the 2022 report. In addition, while the Federal Office of Management & Budget (OMB) has published new race and ethnicity definitions, OMB has also instructed that each federal agency (including the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs) issue instructions to their stakeholders on whether and how to report data against 2010 race and ethnicity definitions. The City began reporting the Affirmative Action statistics starting with the Affirmative Action Plan of 2011 using the seven race and ethnicity criteria published by the Federal Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

The City of Seattle's Affirmative Action Plan is based on Executive Order 11246 and the Department of Labor's Federal Contractor's Affirmative Action Requirements. The Affirmative Action Plan requires establishment of placement goals to achieve a workforce that is a reasonable representation of the relevant labor market. These actions do not work against the requirements outlined under the Washington Statewide Initiative 200; specifically, this initiative does not prohibit the City from setting placement goals for monitoring purposes.

Placement goals are viewed as objectives or targets reasonably attainable by means of applying a good faith effort to make all aspects of the entire affirmative action program work. Placement goals also are used to measure progress toward achieving equal employment opportunity. The City has established percentage annual placement goals equal to the availability figure derived for women or minorities, as appropriate, for each job group within each City department. Placement goals are not to be misconstrued as rigid and inflexible quotas, which must be met, nor are they to be considered as either a ceiling or a floor for the employment of particular groups. In addition, a placement goal is aspirational, in that it constitutes neither a finding for an admission of discrimination.

The Department of Labor’s (DOL) Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP) does not judge contractors solely on whether they have attained their goals, but upon whether they have made good faith efforts. Therefore, the City is moving forward with an Affirmative Action Plan and EEO Program with an emphasis on ensuring that its employment processes are nondiscriminatory and that the City makes a good faith effort to address any problem areas through outreach and action-oriented programs.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EEO) POLICY STATEMENT
(41 CFR § 60-741.44(a))

The EEO Policy Statement on the following page is posted on our City of Seattle’s bulletin board along with our required employment posters and is viewable by both employees and applicants. The EEO is the Law poster is also posted on our City of Seattle’s bulletin board as well as made available electronically through our City of Seattle website for viewing by online applicants.

City of Seattle

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of the City of Seattle not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of their race, color, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, political ideology, age, creed, veteran's status, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender identity, pregnancy, or because they are an individual with a disability or disabled veteran, Armed Forces service medal veteran, recently separated veteran, or active duty wartime or campaign badge veteran, or thereafter referred collectively as "protected veterans. It is also the policy of City of Seattle to take affirmative action to employ and to advance in employment, all persons regardless of their status as individuals with disabilities or protected veterans, and to base all employment decisions only on valid job requirements. This policy shall apply to all employment actions, including but not limited to recruitment, hiring, upgrading, promotion, transfer, demotion, layoff, recall, termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation, and selection for training, including apprenticeship, at all levels of employment. Furthermore, the City of Seattle will provide qualified applicants and employees who request an accommodation due to a disability with reasonable accommodations, as required by law.

City of Seattle prohibits harassment of employees and applicants because they are individuals with disabilities or protected veterans. City of Seattle also prohibits retaliation against employees and applicants for filing a complaint, opposing any discriminatory act or practice, assisting or participating in any manner in a review, investigation, or hearing or otherwise seeking to obtain their legal rights under any Federal, State, or local EEO law requiring equal employment opportunity for individuals with disabilities and protected veterans. Prohibited retaliation includes, but is not limited to, harassment, intimidation, threats, coercion or other adverse actions that might dissuade someone from asserting their rights.

As Interim Director of Seattle Department of Human Resources, I am committed to the principles of affirmative action and equal employment opportunity. In order to ensure dissemination and implementation of equal employment opportunity and affirmative action throughout all levels of the City of Seattle, I have selected the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager to oversee this work. One of the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager's duties will be to establish and maintain an internal audit and reporting system to allow for effective measurement of City of Seattle's programs.

In furtherance of City of Seattle's policy regarding affirmative action and equal employment opportunity, City of Seattle has developed a written Affirmative Action Program (AAP) which sets forth the policies, practices and procedures that City of Seattle is committed to in order to ensure that its policy of nondiscrimination and affirmative action for qualified individuals with disabilities and qualified protected veterans is accomplished. This AAP is available for inspection by any employee or applicant for employment upon request between 8:00-4:00 at the Human Resources department. Any questions should be directed to me, your supervisor, or the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager via email at eeo@seattle.gov.

POLICY & DISSEMINATION

The City of Seattle is an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer committed to creating an inclusive environment for all employees free of discrimination and harassment. The City of Seattle will not tolerate any form of discrimination or harassment against any employee or applicant for employment based on a person's race, color, religion, creed, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, ancestry, citizen or immigration status, age, genetic information, disability, marital status, honorably discharged veteran or military status, pregnancy, or political ideology. The City's goal is to be an inclusive workforce that is representative, at all job levels, of the residents we serve.

The City is also committed to an equal opportunity program. This program directs management at all levels to develop and implement assessment strategies such as, internal auditing and reporting systems as a means of measuring the City's progress.

The City of Seattle commits to an equal employment opportunity policy that prohibits discrimination against any employee or applicant for employment because of their race, color, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, political ideology, age, creed, veteran's status, religions, ancestry, national origin, gender identity, pregnancy, or the presence of any sensory, physical, or mental disability and other protected characteristics as required under federal, state, and local laws. The policy of the City of Seattle is to comply voluntarily with the concepts and practices of affirmative action.

The City's Affirmative Action Program will direct management at all levels to develop and implement strategies designed not only to achieve a workforce that is a reasonable representation of the relevant labor market consistent with and dependent upon the business conditions and number of placement opportunities that may occur, but also to ensure equal employment opportunity for all. Each department will have the designated responsibility for its action-oriented program plan and will monitor that plan and make reports on a periodic and continuing basis to the Director for Seattle's Department of Human Resources.

All employment decisions shall be consistent with the principles of Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO), and in compliance with all applicable Federal, State, and local laws and ordinances.

All other personnel actions or programs such as compensation, benefits, promotions, transfers, layoffs, recalls, City-sponsored training, education, tuition assistance and social and recreational programs will be administered without regard to race, color, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, political ideology, age, creed, veteran's status, religion, ancestry, national origin, or the presence of any sensory, physical or mental disability.

The City strongly encourages employees to report incidents of harassment to a management representative or other mandatory reporter, including but not limited to Strategic Advisors and Human Resources representatives. Employees may elect to report incidents of harassment to the Office of Employee Ombud (OEO) or the Human Resources Investigations Unit (HRIU). Represented employees may also utilize the procedures in their respective collective bargaining agreements to make a complaint.

This equal employment opportunity policy is available to all supervisors, managers, directors, and employees. It is discussed in related training programs, including New Employee Orientation which is required for all new employees and made available for all transferring and promoted employees; information about the City's affirmative action plan can be requested on the City's website. In addition, employment sources and vendors will be notified of the City’s commitment to equal employment opportunity on an annual basis.

SECTION I: REQUIRED ELEMENTS

1. ESTABLISHMENT OF RESPONSIBILITIES FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THE WRITTEN AFFIRMATIVE ACTION PROGRAM

(41 CFR § 60-2.17(a))

A. Designation of Responsibilities of AAP Administrator (41 CFR 60.2.17(a))

The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager, will have the primary management responsibility, authority, and resources for ensuring full compliance with the provisions of E.O. 11246, as amended, and with implementing all applicable regulations. The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager's appointment and a description of the position's basic responsibilities will be communicated to all levels of personnel in the City of Seattle. The responsibilities of the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager will include, but are not necessarily limited to, the following:

1. Developing EEO policy statements, Affirmative Action Programs, and internal and external communication procedures;
2. Assisting in the identification of AAP/EEO problems;
3. Assisting management in arriving at effective solutions to AAP/EEO problems;
4. Designing and implementing an internal audit and reporting system that:
 - a. Measures the effectiveness of the Affirmative Action Program;
 - b. Determines the degree to which AAP goals and objectives are met; and
 - c. Identifies the need for remedial action.
5. Keeping City of Seattle's management informed of equal opportunity progress and reporting potential problem areas within the City of Seattle through reports;
6. Reviewing the City of Seattle's AAP for qualified minorities and women with all levels of management to ensure that the policy is understood and is followed in all personnel activities;
7. Auditing the contents of the City of Seattle's bulletin board to ensure compliance information is posted and up-to-date; and
8. Serving as liaison between City of Seattle and enforcement agencies.

B. The Responsibilities of the City of Seattle's Management to Ensure Implementation of the AAP (41 CFR 60-2.17(a))

In implementing this written Affirmative Action Program, the responsibilities of the City of Seattle's supervisors and managers working with the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager will include, but are not necessarily limited to, the following:

1. Assisting in the identification of problem areas, formulating solutions, and establishing departmental goals and objectives when appropriate;
2. Reviewing the qualifications of all applicants and employees to ensure qualified individuals are treated in a nondiscriminatory manner when hiring, promotion, transfer, and termination actions occur; and
3. Reviewing the job performance of each employee to assess whether personnel actions are justified based on the employee's performance of his or her duties and responsibilities.

2. IDENTIFICATION OF PROBLEM AREAS (41 CFR § 60-2.17(b))

City of Seattle performs in-depth analysis of its total employment process to determine if there are areas where minority and/or female groups may face impediments to equal opportunity. The following analyses are conducted to reveal any potential problem areas:

1. Placement Goals: An analysis of incumbency versus availability will be performed to determine whether there are problems of minority and/or women utilization. Whenever a problem exists, as defined by a statistical methodology, Placement Goals are set (see the Placement Goals report in Appendix 4). Whether there are Placement Goals or not, steps will be taken to encourage and increase the percentage of qualified minorities and/or females applying for positions both externally and internally. These steps may include, but are not limited to the following:
 - Working with hiring managers and recruiters to determine appropriate outreach to attract qualified applicant pools;
 - Recruiting at colleges and universities with a significant percentage of minority and/or female students;
 - Publishing job advertisements in newspapers and/or magazines that target minorities and/or females;
 - Offering mentorship programs for minority and/or female employees;
 - Offering job training to minorities and/or females currently employed by the City of Seattle to increase their chances of advancement;
 - Offering tuition reimbursement to employees to obtain training that will increase their chances of advancement;
 - Using recruitment companies that specifically target minorities and/or females; and
 - Continuing to use the services of the respective Employment Service Delivery System.
2. Review of Employment Decisions: A review of employment decisions will be made to determine whether minorities and/or women are selected at a less favorable rate than non-minorities and/or men. A review of non-minorities and/or males will also be conducted to determine if either group is being selected at a statistically significant lessor rate than minorities and/or women.
3. Review of Hires/Promotions: Whenever minorities and/or women are selected at a lower rate than non-minorities and/or males, a review of the applicant flow will be conducted to determine possible reasons why minorities and/or women were not selected at a more favorable rate. If the City of Seattle is attracting fewer than expected minorities and/or women that fit the qualifications for the job groups, good faith efforts will be put into place to attempt to improve the applicant flow of qualified minorities and/or females. If non-minorities and/or men are selected at a statistically significantly lessor rate than minorities and/or women, a review of the applicant flow and selection decisions is also made to ensure that there is no evidence of discrimination.

4. Review of Terminations: For terminations, if minorities and/or women are being involuntarily terminated or are voluntarily leaving at a higher rate than non-minorities and/or men, a review of the employee files will be made to ensure the City of Seattle is applying its policies and procedures for termination equally for protected as well as non-protected classes. If non-minorities and/or men have a statistically significant higher rate of termination than minorities and/or women, an investigation will also be conducted to determine the cause.
5. Compensation: Compensation will be reviewed at least annually to determine if there are significant discrepancies in pay when comparing women's and men's rates of pay and minority versus non-minority rates of pay. If discrepancies do exist, a thorough review will be conducted to determine if the difference in pay is justified due to appropriate factors. If the difference in pay cannot be justified, City of Seattle will develop and implement a plan to bring pay into greater alignment.

3. ACCOMPLISHMENT OF PRIOR YEAR PLACEMENT GOALS

Where goals are established for the prior year, the City of Seattle will develop action-oriented programs designed to accomplish the established goals and objectives, thereby enhancing employment and advancement opportunities in the City of Seattle for minorities and/or women. The results of the prior year's Affirmative Action Program are identified on the Goal Attainment report below.

4. THE DEVELOPMENT & EXECUTION OF ACTION ORIENTED PROGRAMS (41 CFR 602.17(c))

Programs have been instituted to ensure no barriers to employment exist. The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager is responsible for overseeing or delegating oversight responsibility of these programs which include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Conducting annual analyses of job descriptions to ensure they accurately reflect job functions;
2. Making job descriptions available to recruiting sources and available to all members of management involved in the recruiting, screening, selection and promotion processes;
3. Evaluating the total selection process to ensure freedom from bias through:
 - a. Reviewing job applications and other pre-employment forms to ensure information requested is job-related;
 - b. Evaluating selection methods that may have a disparate impact to ensure that they are job-related and consistent with business necessity;
 - c. Training personnel and management staff on proper interview and selection procedures; and
 - d. Training on EEO and other related policies for management and supervisory staff.
4. Using techniques to improve recruitment and retention and to increase the flow of qualified applicants, including minority and/or female applicants, City of Seattle undertakes the following actions:
 - a. Including the phrase “As an EEO/Affirmative Action Employer all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, veteran status” or other acceptable tagline in all printed employment advertisements;
 - b. Placing employment advertisements in local minority news media and women’s interest media;
 - c. Disseminating information on job opportunities to organizations representing minorities and women and to employment development agencies when job opportunities become available;
 - d. Encouraging all employees to refer qualified applicants;
 - e. Actively recruiting at secondary schools, junior colleges, colleges and universities with predominantly minority and/or female enrollments; and
 - f. Requesting employment agencies to refer qualified minorities and women.
5. Reviewing the City of Seattle’s compensation practices;
6. Ensuring that all employees are given equal opportunity for promotions and/or transfers. This is achieved by:

- a. Posting opportunities internally;
- b. Offering guidance to employees in identifying opportunities, training and educational programs to enhance promotions and opportunities for job rotation or transfer; and
- c. Evaluating job requirements to ensure that they are appropriate.

Additionally, each City department will establish its own action-oriented programs tailored to the needs and requirements of the job classifications that make up the job groups within their individual organizational units. This is done to account for the varying business needs and responsibilities between the departments. While there are many similarities in job classifications that the departments share, there are many more differences than would appear on the surface. Therefore, each individual department is responsible for tailoring its program to fit its business needs.

For specific examples of the City of Seattle Action Oriented Programs, please refer to Appendix 6.

5. INTERNAL AUDIT & REPORTING (41 CFR. § 60-2.17(d))

The City of Seattle believes that one of the most important elements in effectively implementing a written Affirmative Action Program is an adequate internal audit and reporting system. Through this system, the total program will be monitored for effectiveness, and management can be kept informed. City of Seattle's audit and reporting system will be designed to:

1. Measure the effectiveness of the AAP/EEO program;
2. Document and analyze personnel activities;
3. Identify problem areas and develop action plans where remedial action is needed; and
4. Determine the degree to which AAP goals and objectives have been attained.

The following personnel activities will be reviewed, as necessary and desirable, to ensure nondiscrimination and EEO for all individuals without regard to their race, color, gender, religion, national origin, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, genetic information, disability, veteran status, or any other legally protected status covered by applicable state or local law:

1. Recruitment, advertising, and job application procedures;
2. Hiring, promotion, upgrading, layoff, recall from layoff;
3. Rates of pay and any other forms of compensation including fringe benefits;
4. Job assignments, job classifications, job descriptions, and seniority lists;
5. Sick leave, leaves of absence, or any other leave;
6. Training, attendance at professional meetings and conferences; and
7. Any other term, condition, or privilege of employment.

The following documents may be maintained as a component of City of Seattle's internal audit process:

1. An applicant flow log;
2. Summary data of external job offers and hires, promotions, terminations;
3. Summary data of applicant flow;
4. Employment applications; and
5. Records pertaining to City of Seattle's compensation system and decisions.

City of Seattle’s audit system will include periodic reviews of employment decisions. Managers and supervisors will be asked to report any current or foreseeable EEO problem areas and will be asked to outline their suggestions/recommendations for solutions. If problem areas arise, the manager or supervisor is expected to report problem areas immediately to the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager. During the reporting cycle, the following steps will occur:

1. The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager will discuss any problems relating to substantial disparate impact, EEO charges, etc., with management; and
2. The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager will report the status of the City of Seattle’s AAP goals and objectives to management. The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager will recommend remedial actions for the effective implementation of the AAP.

SECTION II: SUPPORT ELEMENTS

6. ADDITIONAL REQUIRED ELEMENTS (41 CFR. § 60-2.17)

The implementation of the City of Seattle's Affirmative Action Plan will follow the requirements of the regulations issued by the OFCCP (41 CFR 60-2.1). With respect to the requirement that the City designate an individual responsible for implementation of the Affirmative Action Plan, the Mayor holds each department head accountable for his or her department's compliance with the Affirmative Action Plan; for undertaking the elimination of internal barriers to equal employment opportunity; for ensuring the job-relatedness of employee selection processes; and for holding subordinate managers, supervisors and employees responsible for promoting equal employment opportunity in the workplace. Further, City departments will each designate an individual responsible for implementation and monitoring of their individual department Affirmative Action Plan.

Responsibility for Implementation

The Seattle Department of Human Resources has the primary oversight for ensuring full compliance with the provisions of Executive Order 11246, as amended, and the Executive Order's implementing regulations. Some of the salient responsibilities are listed below:

1. Assisting managers in identifying problem areas and arriving at solutions to problems where necessary, including establishing aspirational placement goals that are reasonable, attainable and consistent with the City's EEO Program and commitment;
2. Designing and implementing audit and reporting systems which will permit continuous monitoring of EEO progress and will serve to provide management with requisite data in that regard;
3. Serving as liaison between the City and enforcement agencies;
4. Serving as liaison between the City and minority organizations, women's organizations and community action groups concerned with employment opportunities of minorities and women;
5. Keeping City management and EEO Officers informed of latest developments in the equal opportunity area;
6. Meeting with department EEO Officers to make certain that the City's EEO policies are being followed.

Management Responsibilities

In implementing this written Affirmative Action Plan, the responsibilities of the City of Seattle's supervisors and other management working with their departmental EEO Officer and the Seattle Department of Human Resources will include, but are not necessarily limited to, the following:

1. Assisting in identifying problem areas and establishing department goals and objectives;
2. Being actively involved with local minority organizations, women's organizations, community action groups and community service programs;
3. Performing periodic audits of training programs, hiring and promotion patterns to isolate impediments to the attainment of goals and objectives;
4. Reviewing the qualifications of all employees to ensure that minorities and women are given full opportunities for transfers and promotions;
5. Providing an opportunity for career counseling to all interested employees;
6. Performing periodic audits to ensure that:

- a. EEO posters are properly displayed;
 - b. All facilities which the City maintains for the use and benefit of its employees are in fact, accessible to everyone, both in policy and use;
 - c. Minority and women employees are encouraged to participate in all City-sponsored educational, training, recreational and social activities.
7. Preventing harassment of employees in the workplace.

7. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

The City of Seattle has established a written 2022 Affirmative Action Plan in compliance with Federal Executive Order 11246 and the Department of Labor's Federal Contractor's Affirmative Action Requirements. The Executive Order prohibits Government contractors and subcontractors, and federally assisted construction contractors and subcontractors, from discriminating in employment, and requires employers to take affirmative action to ensure that employees and applicants are treated without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. The City of Seattle also recognizes the following protected classes as they relate to employment: ancestry, breastfeeding in a public place, citizenship or immigration status, creed, disability, gender identity, marital status, National Origin, political ideology, sexual orientation, use of a service animal, military status or Veteran.

All departments within the City of Seattle are covered by the Affirmative Action Plan and include:

8. ORGANIZATIONAL PROFILE (41 CFR § 60-2.11)

The purpose of an organizational profile is to have a representation of the staffing pattern within the City of Seattle. It is one methodology that can be utilized to determine whether barriers to equal employment opportunity exist. The profile provides an overview of the City's workforce that may assist in identifying organizational units where women or minorities are under-represented or concentrated. The City uses this workforce analysis as its organizational profile.

The City's organizational profile is a detailed tabular report of the City's organizational structure. The profile identifies each department and job title by job group within that department. For each department, the organizational profile indicates the following:

- The name of the unit.
- The job title, gender, race and ethnicity of all incumbents within the unit.
- The total number of female and minority incumbents.
- The total number of incumbents in each of the following groups: Blacks, Hispanics, Asians, American Indians/Alaskan Natives, Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander and Persons from two or more races.

As of March 1, 2022, the City of Seattle employed a total of 12,579 (twelve thousand five hundred seventy-nine) regular part-time and full-time employees. Pursuant to 41 CFR § 60-2.11, we have provided the following workforce analysis information.

Workforce Analysis

The workforce analysis is a listing of each job title as it appears on the City's payroll records ranked from the lowest paid to the highest paid within each department including departmental supervision. Job titles are listed by department and job groups in order of salary ranges.

For each job title, the total number of men and women incumbents in each of the following groups are given: Black/African American, Hispanic, Asian/Pacific Islander, American Indians/Alaskan Natives, Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander and Two or More Races. The salary range for each job title, including managerial job titles is available upon request. The workforce analysis can be found in Appendix 4: Required Reports and is available upon request to eeo@seattle.gov.

SECTION III: METHODOLOGY & ANALYSIS

9. METHODOLOGY

The Seattle Department of Human Resources will work with representatives from each City Department to update department-specific workforce availabilities. Human Resources staff within each department will be provided the information necessary to make educated decisions about their immediate and recruitment labor areas, as well as the selection and weighting of the relevant factors needed to perform the prescribed Availability Analysis. Decisions on recruitment labor areas will be made based on recent history of hiring and recruitment experiences as well as future recruitment strategies based on departmental need.

All statistical analysis will be done using CAAMS (Complete Affirmative Action Management Systems) with information provided by City department staff via the City's Human Resources Information System (HRIS), EV5, and NEOGOV Application system. The CAAMS system utilizes the prescribed statistical methodologies set forth by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and the Office of Contract and Compliance Programs (OFCCP). CAAMS will continue to be used for monitoring purposes for the duration of this plan.

Individual department data are contained in this report. Support data includes:

- Summary Analysis Report – shows the breakdown of the total staffing and goals Citywide and Department-wide.
- Job Group Analysis Report – shows the breakdown of the staffing Citywide and Department-wide by 215 occupational job groups.

In conducting the Availability Analysis to determine workforce availabilities by department the following definitions were used as prescribed by the OFCCP and the EEOC.

Availability Analysis

The data sources used in calculating workforce availability included:

- 2018 EEO American Community Survey (ACS), U.S. Census Bureau
- Internal employee profile data (both current and historical)

Labor Area Definitions

For purposes of clarity and consistency, departments used the following definitions:

Immediate Labor Area: The immediate labor area is the geographic area from which employees may commute to City of Seattle facilities. It may include one or more contiguous cities, counties or Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSA's) or parts thereof, in which the establishment is located. Due to the various locations of City departments and the multimodal transportation and commute options available in the Puget Sound Region, immediate labor areas were established to reflect the actual labor areas already realized by City employees.

Recruitment Area: The reasonable recruiting area represents the area from which the City of Seattle can reasonably seek workers for a particular job group. The recruiting area may coincide with the immediate labor area, or it may cover a larger area (state, region, or nation). Due to the various physical locations of City departments and numerous job classifications with the expanded job groups developed for the 2021 Affirmative Action Plan, the recruitment areas were established by the AA/EEO Program Manager to ensure consistency across job groups and across the City.

Previous Affirmative Action Plans only identified King County as the labor area and the recruitment area, however we know that current employees commute from the entire Puget Sound Region and beyond. The recruitment areas were redeveloped for the 2021 Affirmative Action Plan to better reflect the varying geographic areas used to successfully recruit, hire and retain employees. The recruitment areas remain the same in 2022 and are established as follows: Tri-County Area (King-Pierce-Snohomish Counties); Puget Sound Region (Clallam-Island-Jefferson-King-Kitsap-Mason-Pierce-San Juan-Skagit-Snohomish-Thurston-Whatcom Counties); State of Washington; or National.

While some employees have begun working remotely in their homes as a result of the COVID-19 Stay Home, Stay Healthy order in March 2020, this Affirmative Action Plan does not make adjustments to the recruitment area to reflect the possibility of remote work.*

Availability Analysis – Two Factors

For each job group, consideration of each of the two factors for minorities and women were considered. Factors are also expressed as the percentage that minorities or women are among all persons who meet the factor. The factors are as follows:

Factor 1 – The percentage of minorities or women with requisite skills in the reasonable recruitment area (local).

Factor 1A – The percentage of minorities or women with the requisite skills in the reasonable recruitment area (other than local).

Factor 1B – The percentage of minorities or women at institutions providing training in requisite skills.

Factor 2 – The percentage of minorities or women among those that can be promoted, transferable or trainable within the contractor’s organization.

Race/Ethnic Identification

The City uses the EEO-4 Form race/ethnic criteria as designated by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. These criteria do not denote scientific definitions of anthropological origins. For the purposes of this report, an employee may be included in the group to which the individual self-declares to belong, identifies with, or is regarded in the community as belonging.

While the Federal Office of Management & Budget (OMB) has published the following seven race and ethnicity definitions, OMB has also instructed that each federal agency (including the Department of Labor, home of the OFCCP) issue instructions to their stakeholders on whether and how to report data against these definitions. The City began reporting its Affirmative Action statistics starting in 2011 using the seven race and ethnicity criteria as published by the Federal Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The race/ethnic categories used for affirmative action purposes are:

White: All persons having origins in any of the original peoples of Europe, North Africa, or the Middle East.

Black/African American: All persons having origins in any of the Black racial groups of Africa.

Hispanic: All persons of Mexican, Puerto Ricans, Cuban, Central of South Americans, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race.

Asian/Pacific Islander: All persons having origins in any of the original people of the Far East, Southeast Asia, and the Indian sub-continent. This area includes, for example, Cambodia, China, India, Japan, Korea, the Philippine Islands, Malaysia, Pakistan, Thailand and Vietnam.

American Indian/Alaska Native: All persons having origins in any of the original peoples of North and South American (including Central America), and who maintain cultural identification through tribal affiliation or community recognition.

Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander: All persons having origins in any of the original peoples of Hawaii, Guam, Samoa or other Pacific Islands.

Two or More Races: All persons who identify as a member of more than one race (e.g., White and Asian, Black and White, White and American Indian or Alaska Native).

Sex / Gender Identification – A Note on Terminology

Throughout this Affirmative Action Plan, the terms “female” and “women” are both used to describe individuals who self-identify as women however, the term “women” will be used throughout the narrative portion of the Plan. Due to the long-standing practice and data continuity of offering applicants and employees the option to self-identify as “male” or “female”, these terms will be used solely for reporting purposes and is reflected in the tables, charts, and graphs as required elements of the plan.

It is important to note that the male/female sex binary and the men/women gender binary is Western and U.S.-centric. Other cultures may use different labels and have other conceptions of gender. Language changes and some of the terms now in common usage may not appropriately reflect the multitude of nonbinary individuals who do not describe themselves or their genders as fitting into the categories of man, woman, or the various identity expressions individuals may experience.

10. JOB GROUP ANALYSIS (41 CFR § 60-2.12 and 60-2.13)

The purpose of a job group analysis is to provide a method of combining job titles within the City. This is the first step in a comparison of the representation of minorities and women in the City's workforce with the estimated availability of minorities and women qualified to be employed.

Pursuant to 41 CFR § 60-2.12, we have supplied an analysis of all job groups within the City of Seattle. As a result, we have grouped the City's 12,579 employees into 215 job groups. In the job group analysis, job titles are combined to form job groups. The analysis includes a list of the job titles that comprise each job group separately for each City department. Pursuant to 41 CFR § 60-2.12(d), the job group analysis contains jobs that are located at alternate sites (e.g. Seattle City Light at Skagit and the Boundary). Furthermore, the job group analysis does not distinguish between jobs that have been partially or fully conducted remotely in compliance with Washington State Governor Jay Inslee's "Stay Home, Stay Healthy" Proclamation 20-25 and the City of Seattle Mayor Jenny Durkan's Executive Order 2020-04 as a response to the COVID-19 pandemic beginning in 2020. The temporary nature of the state and local Stay Home Orders has not resulted in permanent work-from-home opportunities for City employees at this time. Additionally, the job group analysis shows the percentage of minorities and the percentage of women the City employs in each job group established.

The job group analysis in previous Affirmative Action Plan utilized the EEO-4 categories as its main job groups. The EEO-4 categories refer to the eight occupational job groups used in the Standard Form 164, the State and Local Government Information EEO-4 Survey: Officials & Administrators, Professionals, Technicians, Protective Services, Para-professionals, Office & Clerical, Skills Crafts, and Service & Maintenance. Beginning with the 2021 Affirmative Action Plan, EEO-4 job groups were analyzed and expanded to more accurately reflect the job functions and educational attainment required for candidates to be successfully hired into the stated job classification. The job groups established in 2021 continue for the 2022 Affirmative Action Plan. Descriptions of the eight EEO-4 categories are as follows:

- 1. Officials and Administrators: Occupations in which employees set broad policies, exercise overall responsibility for execution of these policies, or direct individual departments or special phases of the agency's operations, or provide specialized consultation on a regional, district, or area basis. Includes: department heads, bureau chiefs, division chiefs, directors, deputy directors, controllers, wardens, superintendents, sheriffs, police and fire chiefs and inspectors, examiners (bank, hearing, motor vehicle, warehouse), inspectors (construction, building, safety, rent-and-housing, fire, A.B. C. Board, license, dairy, livestock, transportation), assessors, tax appraisers and investigators, coroners, farm managers, and kindred workers.
- 2. Professionals: Occupations which require specialized and theoretical knowledge which is usually acquired through college training or through work experience and other training which provides comparable knowledge. Includes: personnel and labor relations workers, social workers, doctors, psychologists, registered nurses, economists, dieticians, lawyers, systems analysts, accountants, engineers, employment and vocational rehabilitation counselors, teachers or instructors, police and fire captains and lieutenants, librarians, management analysts, airplane pilots and navigators, surveyors and mapping scientists, and kindred workers.

3. Technicians: Occupations which require a combination of basic scientific or technical knowledge and manual skill which can be obtained through specialized post-secondary school education or through equivalent on-the-job training. Includes: computer programmers, drafters, survey and mapping technicians, licensed practical nurses, photographers, radio operators, technical illustrators, highway technicians, technicians (medical, dental, electronic, physical sciences), police and fire sergeants, inspectors (production or processing inspectors, testers and weighers), and kindred workers.
4. Protective Service Workers: Occupations in which workers are entrusted with public safety, security and protection from destructive forces. Includes: police patrol officers, firefighters, guards, deputy sheriffs, bailiffs, correctional officers, detectives, marshals, harbor patrol officers, game and fish wardens, park rangers (except maintenance), and kindred workers.
5. Paraprofessionals: Occupations in which workers perform some of the duties of a professional or technician in a supportive role, which usually require less formal training and/or experience normally required for professional or technical status. Such positions may fall within an identified pattern of staff development and promotion under a “New Careers” concept. Includes: research assistants, medical aides, child support workers, policy auxiliary welfare service aides, recreation assistants, homemakers aides, home health aides, library assistants and clerks, ambulance drivers and attendants, and kindred workers.
6. Administrative Support (Office and Clerical): Occupations in which workers are responsible for internal and external communication, recording and retrieval of data and/or information and other paperwork required in an office. Includes: bookkeepers, messengers, clerk-typists, stenographers, court transcribers, hearing reporters, statistical clerks, dispatchers, license distributors, payroll clerks, office machine and computer operators, telephone operators, legal assistants, sales workers, cashiers, toll collectors, and kindred workers.
7. Skilled Craft Workers: Occupations in which workers perform jobs which require special manual skill and a thorough and comprehensive knowledge of the processes involved in the work which is acquired through on-the-job training and experience or through apprenticeship or other formal training programs. Includes: mechanics and repairers, electricians, heavy equipment operators, stationary engineers, skilled machining occupations, carpenters, compositors and typesetters, power plant operators, water and sewage treatment plant operators, and kindred workers.
8. Service & Maintenance: Occupations in which workers perform duties which result in or contribute to the comfort, convenience, hygiene or safety of the general public or which contribute to the upkeep and care of buildings, facilities or grounds of public property. Workers in this group may operate machinery. Includes: chauffeurs, laundry and dry cleaning operatives, truck drivers, bus drivers, garage laborers, custodial employees, gardeners and ground keepers, refuse collectors, construction laborers, park rangers (maintenance), farm workers (except managers), craft apprentices/trainees/helpers, and kindred workers.

See Appendix 3 for a full list of Job Groups and Job Classifications associated with the EEO-4 categories listed above.

11. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY

(41 CFR § 60-2.14 and 60-2.15)

Availability is an estimate of the number of qualified minorities or women available for employment in a given job group, expressed as a percentage of all qualified persons available for employment in the job group. The purpose of the availability determination is to establish a benchmark against which the demographic composition of the City's incumbent workforce can be compared in order to determine whether barriers to equal employment opportunity may exist within particular job groups.

The City has separately determined the availability of minorities and women for each job group within each City department. Where a job group is composed of job titles with different availability rates, a composite availability figure for the job group was calculated. The City separately determined the availability for each job title within the job group and determined the proportion of job group incumbents employed in each job title. The City gave weight to the availability for each job title by the proportion of job group incumbents employed in that job group. The sum of the weighted availability estimates for all job titles in the job group is the composite availability for the job group.

12. COMPARING INCUMBENCY TO AVAILABILITY (41 CFR § 60-2.15(b))

The following information is intended to describe the process by which the City examines its actual workforce and the potential talent available within its surrounding communities (e.g., King-Snohomish-Pierce Counties, Puget Sound Region, Washington State, or National).

1. Explanation of Utilization

This availability analysis estimates the percentages of minorities and women available for employment in each identified job group. The City of Seattle compared calculated availability percentages with the City's actual employment percentages to ultimately identify underutilization of women and minorities. Underutilization is defined as "having fewer minorities or women in a particular job group than would reasonably be expected by their availability" (41 CFR. § 60-2.15(b)).

2. Determination of Availability

To determine women and minority availability (internal and external) for each job group, the OFCCP has developed a revised set of two factors. The "Two Factor Computation Method" has been required by the OFCCP since January 2001.

3. Application of the Two-Factor Analysis

We have considered each of the factors designated in the revised federal guidelines as outlined in the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs Affirmative Action Requirements; Final Rule for each job group by City department. In considering each of these factors, we analyzed each department's past practices. The computation showing the factors considered and the source of labor statistics used in this analysis is available upon request.

4. Comparing Incumbency to Availability

The City compared the percentage of minorities and women incumbents in each job group with the availability for those job groups determined pursuant to 41 CFR §60-2.14. When the percentage of minorities or women employed into a particular job group is less than would reasonably be expected given their availability percentage in that particular job group, the City established a placement goal in accordance with 41 CFR §60-2.16 (The Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs' federal register for contractors).

APPENDIX 1: Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP) Affirmative Action Program (AAP)
for VEVRAA

1-1 Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Policy Statement
(41 CFR 60 300.44(a))

The EEO Policy Statement on the following page is posted on our City of Seattle’s bulletin board along with our required employment posters and is viewable by both employees and applicants. The EEO is the Law poster is also posted on our City of Seattle’s bulletin board as well as made available electronically through our City of Seattle website for viewing by online applicants.

City of Seattle

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of the City of Seattle not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of their race, color, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, political ideology, age, creed, veteran's status, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender identity, pregnancy, or because they are an individual with a disability or disabled veteran, Armed Forces service medal veteran, recently separated veteran, or active duty wartime or campaign badge veteran, or thereafter referred collectively as "protected veterans. It is also the policy of City of Seattle to take affirmative action to employ and to advance in employment, all persons regardless of their status as individuals with disabilities or protected veterans, and to base all employment decisions only on valid job requirements. This policy shall apply to all employment actions, including but not limited to recruitment, hiring, upgrading, promotion, transfer, demotion, layoff, recall, termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation, and selection for training, including apprenticeship, at all levels of employment. Furthermore, the City of Seattle will provide qualified applicants and employees who request an accommodation due to a disability with reasonable accommodations, as required by law.

City of Seattle prohibits harassment of employees and applicants because they are individuals with disabilities or protected veterans. City of Seattle also prohibits retaliation against employees and applicants for filing a complaint, opposing any discriminatory act or practice, assisting or participating in any manner in a review, investigation, or hearing or otherwise seeking to obtain their legal rights under any Federal, State, or local EEO law requiring equal employment opportunity for individuals with disabilities and protected veterans. Prohibited retaliation includes, but is not limited to, harassment, intimidation, threats, coercion or other adverse actions that might dissuade someone from asserting their rights.

As Interim Director of Seattle Department of Human Resources, I am committed to the principles of affirmative action and equal employment opportunity. In order to ensure dissemination and implementation of equal employment opportunity and affirmative action throughout all levels of the City of Seattle, I have selected the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager to oversee this work. One of the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager's duties will be to establish and maintain an internal audit and reporting system to allow for effective measurement of City of Seattle's programs.

In furtherance of City of Seattle's policy regarding affirmative action and equal employment opportunity, City of Seattle has developed a written Affirmative Action Program (AAP) which sets forth the policies, practices and procedures that City of Seattle is committed to in order to ensure that its policy of nondiscrimination and affirmative action for qualified individuals with disabilities and qualified protected veterans is accomplished. This AAP is available for inspection by any employee or applicant for employment upon request between 8:00-4:00 at the Human Resources department. Any questions should be directed to me, your supervisor, or the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager via email at eeo@seattle.gov.

1-2 Review of Personnel Processes
(41 CFR 60 300.44(b))

City of Seattle will comply with the requirement to “periodically review” its personnel processes by reviewing these processes annually to determine whether its present procedures assure careful, thorough, and systematic consideration of the qualifications of known protected veterans. As part of this review, City of Seattle will ensure that its personnel processes do not stereotype protected veterans in a manner which limits their access to all jobs for which they are qualified. This review will cover all procedures related to the filling of job vacancies either by hire or by promotion, as well as to all training opportunities offered or made available to employees.

The following is a set of procedures which may be used to meet the requirements of §60 300.44(b):

1. Applicant records are maintained which indicate whether or not an applicant self-identified as a protected veteran. This information can be retrieved for review by the Department of Labor and the contractor's personnel officials for use in investigations and internal compliance activities.
2. Records are maintained which indicate employees considered for competitive promotions within the organization. Employees are given the opportunity to voluntarily self-identify protected veteran status.
3. Records are maintained regarding training opportunities granted to employees which include whether or not the employee has self-identified as a protected veteran.
4. Any time a known protected veteran applicant or employee is rejected for employment, promotion, or training, the City of Seattle prepares a statement outlining the reason.
5. Requests for accommodation due to a disability are maintained along with the nature of the request and whether or not the accommodation was granted. If the accommodation was denied, the City of Seattle prepares a statement describing the reason for denying the accommodation request. All accommodation records are treated as a confidential medical record in accordance with §60 300.23(d).

1-3 Review of Physical & Mental Job Qualification Standards
(41 CFR 60 300.44(c))

City of Seattle will review the physical and mental job qualification standards of each job opening before it is publicly or internally posted to ensure that, to the extent that such qualification requirements tend to screen out qualified disabled veterans, they are related to the job(s) in question and consistent with business necessity and the safe performance of the job. The physical and mental qualifications will also be reviewed as new jobs are established or job requirements are modified.

All job qualification requirements were found to be job related and consistent with business necessity and safety. City of Seattle will continue to review physical and mental job qualification requirements whenever a job vacancy will be filled through either hiring or promotion and will conduct a qualifications review whenever job duties change.

If the City of Seattle at any time should inquire into an applicant's physical or mental condition or should conduct a medical examination, such inquiries or exams will be conducted in accordance with the VEVRAA regulations and the information obtained as a result of the inquiry or exam will be kept confidential, except as otherwise provided for in the VEVRAA regulations. The results of the examination or inquiry will only be used in accordance with the VEVRAA regulations.

1-4 Reasonable Accommodation to Physical & Mental Limitations

City of Seattle will continue its longstanding commitment to making reasonable accommodation to the known physical or mental limitations of qualified disabled veterans unless doing so would impose an undue hardship on the operation of its business. The City of Seattle also commits to engaging in an interactive process with the person requesting the accommodation (or the person's representative), as needed, to determine an appropriate accommodation.

If an employee who is known to be a qualified disabled veteran is having significant difficulty performing his or her job and it is reasonable to conclude that the performance problem may be related to the known disability, the manager or appropriate HR personnel will confidentially notify the employee of the performance problem and inquire whether the problem is related to the employee's disability. If the employee indicates that the performance problems are related to his or her disability, the employee is asked if reasonable accommodation is needed.

In determining the extent of the City of Seattle's accommodation obligations, the following factors are considered:

1. Business necessity; and
2. Financial cost and expense.

City of Seattle will also ensure that all requests for reasonable accommodation and any medical or disability-related information provided to City of Seattle will be treated as confidential medical records and maintained in a separate medical file.

1-5 Anti-Harassment Procedures
(41 CFR 60 300.44(e))

Employees and applicants of City of Seattle will not be subject to harassment because of protected veteran status. Retaliation, including intimidation, threat, coercion, or discrimination, against an employee or applicant because they have objected to discrimination, engaged or may engage in filing a complaint, assisted in a review, investigation, or hearing or have otherwise sought to obtain their legal rights under any Federal, State, or local EEO law regarding protected veterans is prohibited. Any employee or applicant who believes that he or she has been subject to retaliation should promptly contact a manager in their chain of command, or promptly contact the EEO Coordinator for assistance. The City of Seattle EEO Coordinator can be contacted via email at eeo@seattle.gov.

This policy is made available for employees and applicants to view. Furthermore, City of Seattle monitors its environment for the presence of any forms of harassment, intimidation, or coercion and, where warranted, takes corrective action.

1-6 External Dissemination of Policy, Outreach, and Positive Recruitment
(41 CFR 60 300.44(f))

City of Seattle will undertake appropriate outreach and positive recruitment efforts to effectively attract protected veterans. In order to comply with the external dissemination of the EEO and Affirmative Action policy, the City of Seattle provides written or electronic notification to all current subcontractors, vendors, and suppliers and will continue to do so on an annual basis. The City of Seattle will also provide such notification to new subcontractors, vendors, and suppliers upon entering into a relationship with them. City of Seattle will inform its recruiting sources, including State employment agencies and local employment service delivery systems, of the City of Seattle’s policy concerning the employment of qualified protected veterans and will notify them of employment opportunities as they become available. City of Seattle will request all recruiting sources to actively recruit and refer qualified persons for job opportunities. City of Seattle will include the equal opportunity clause concerning the employment of qualified protected veterans in all non-exempt subcontracts and purchase orders.

1-7 Internal Dissemination of Policy
(41 CFR 60 300.44(g))

City of Seattle is developing internal procedures to communicate its obligation to engage in affirmative action efforts to employ and advance in employment qualified protected veterans. Procedures are designed to foster understanding, acceptance, and support among all employees and to encourage them to help City of Seattle meet this obligation.

The City of Seattle realizes that an outreach program is ineffective without the adequate internal support from management personnel and other employees. In order to ensure greater employee cooperation and participation in the City of Seattle's affirmative action efforts, City of Seattle is adopting policies and engaging in activities which include the following:

1. Copy of our AAP for Protected Veterans will be available for inspection to any employee or applicant upon request;
2. EEO Policy Statement and the EEO is the Law poster will be placed on bulletin boards located throughout our facilities and work areas;
3. Electronic versions of the EEO Policy Statement and the EEO is the Law poster will be clearly labeled and posted on the City of Seattle's intranet;
4. Meetings with executive, management, and supervisory personnel will be held to explain the intent of the policy and individual responsibility for effective implementation;
5. Managers and supervisors will be provided with affirmative action and EEO training upon commencement of their management roles;
6. Policy will be discussed during employee orientation;
7. Union officials and/or employee representatives will be informed of these policies; and
8. When employees are featured in publications, protected veterans will be included when available.

1-8 Audit & Reporting Systems
(41 CFR 60 300.44(h))

The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager has the responsibility for the preparation and implementation of the AAP. Responsibility for the effective implementation of the AAP is also vested with each department manager and supervisor.

The following activities will be reviewed at least annually to ensure freedom from discrimination against, or stereotyping of, protected veterans in any manner. During the self-audit, the following activities will be reviewed:

1. Recruitment, advertising, and job application procedures;
2. Implementation of hiring, promotion, upgrading, award of tenure, layoff, and recall from layoff;
3. Rates of pay and any other forms of compensation including fringe benefits;
4. Job assignments, job classifications, job descriptions, and seniority lists;
5. Awarding of sick leave, leaves of absence, or implementation of any other leave policies;
6. Participation in training, mentoring, or apprenticeship programs, and attendance at professional meetings and conferences; and
7. Application of any other term, condition, or privilege of employment, including participation in City of Seattle-sponsored educational, training, recreational, and social activities.

City of Seattle's audit system will include periodic reports provided by the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager documenting any efforts to achieve its EEO/AAP responsibilities. Managers and supervisors will be asked to report any current or foreseeable EEO problem areas and are asked to outline their suggestions/recommendations for solutions.

The following documents will be maintained as a component of City of Seattle's internal audit process:

- documentation of self-audit;
- summary data of personnel activity including external job offers and hires, promotions, resignations, terminations, and layoffs by job group relating to protected veterans;
- and an applicant flow log showing the name, race, ethnicity, sex, disability status, veteran status, date of application, job title, and action taken for all individuals applying for job opportunities.

1-9 Responsibility for Implementation
(41 CFR 60 300.44(i))

A. Responsibilities of EEO Coordinator:

The Affirmative Action / Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager has been designated to direct the activities of the affirmative action program. This person will be responsible for ensuring the effective implementation of the City of Seattle's AAP. These responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

1. Implementing the AAP for protected veterans, policy statements, personnel policies and procedures, internal and external communication of the policy, and monitoring the effectiveness of these actions;
2. Reviewing all personnel actions, policies, and procedures to ensure compliance with City of Seattle's affirmative action obligations;
3. Assisting Human Resources department with reviewing the qualifications of all applicants and employees considered/eligible for hiring, promotion, transfer, or layoff/reduction in force to ensure qualified protected veterans are treated in a nondiscriminatory manner when hiring, promotion, transfer, or layoff/reduction in force occur;
4. Assisting in the development of solutions for any identified problem areas;
5. Monitoring the effectiveness of the program on a continuing basis through the development and implementation of an internal audit and reporting system that measures the effectiveness of the program;
6. Keeping management informed of equal opportunity progress and problems within the City of Seattle through, at a minimum, periodic reports;
7. Providing department managers with a copy of the AAP for protected veterans and reviewing the program with them on an annual basis to ensure knowledge of their responsibilities for implementation of the program;
8. Reviewing the City of Seattle's AAP for protected veterans with all managers and supervisors at all levels to ensure that the policy is understood and is followed in all personnel activities;
9. Assisting in ensuring that career development of employees who are protected veterans is equal to that of other employees;
10. Auditing the contents of City of Seattle bulletin boards to ensure that required information is posted and up-to-date;
11. Serving as a liaison between City of Seattle and enforcement agencies; and
12. Serving as a liaison between City of Seattle and outreach and recruitment sources for protected veterans.

B. Responsibilities of Managers and Supervisors:

Managers and supervisors will be advised annually of their responsibilities under the City of Seattle's AAP for protected veterans. These responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

1. Reviewing the City of Seattle's affirmative action policy for protected veterans with subordinate managers and supervisors to ensure that they are aware of the policy and understand their obligation to comply with it in all personnel actions;
2. Reviewing the qualifications of all applicants and employees to ensure qualified individuals are treated in a nondiscriminatory manner when hiring, promotion, transfer, or layoff/reduction in force occur; and
3. Reviewing all employees' performance to ensure that non-discrimination is adhered to in all personnel activities.

1-10 Training
(41 CFR 60 300.44(j))

All personnel involved in the recruitment, screening, selection, promotion, disciplinary, and related processes will receive annual training regarding City of Seattle’s AAP and their role in its implementation. Employees hired or promoted into these roles also will receive training on regulatory requirements under Vietnam Era Veterans’ Readjustment Assistance Act soon after being hired or placed into these roles.

During the annual training, personnel will be advised of their responsibilities under the AAP for protected veterans and of their obligations to:

1. Assist in the identification of problem areas, formulate solutions, and establish departmental goals and objectives when necessary;
2. Ensure qualified applicants and employees who are protected veterans are treated in a nondiscriminatory manner in all employment practices, including when making selection decisions, such as for hire, promotion, training, or to receive awards or bonuses;
3. Provide reasonable accommodation to the known physical or mental limitations of qualified disabled veterans unless such accommodation would impose an undue hardship on the conduct of its business;
4. Maintain confidentiality of any information regarding self-identification of protected veteran status; and
5. Ensure that nondiscrimination is adhered to in all personnel activities.

1-11 Applicant and Hiring Data
(41 CFR 60-300.44(k))

City of Seattle collects employee data pertaining to protected veterans in order to assess the effectiveness of the City of Seattle’s outreach and recruitment efforts. We invite applicants to voluntarily inform the City of Seattle whether they believe they are protected veterans in compliance with the VEVRAA requirements. This data will be maintained for three years.

1-12 Hiring Benchmarks
(41 CFR 60 300.45)

City of Seattle has adopted the national percentage (5.6%) of veterans in the civilian labor force provided by OFCCP as its hiring benchmark for the AAP year. This benchmark is used as one of the criteria in its assessment of the effectiveness of its outreach and recruitment efforts.

2-1 Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Policy Statement
(41 CFR 60741.44(a))

The EEO Policy Statement on the following page is posted on our City of Seattle’s bulletin board along with our required employment posters and is viewable by both employees and applicants. The EEO is the Law poster is also posted on our City of Seattle’s bulletin board as well as made available electronically through our City of Seattle website for viewing by online applicants.

City of Seattle

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of the City of Seattle not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of their race, color, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, political ideology, age, creed, veteran's status, religion, ancestry, national origin, gender identity, pregnancy, or because they are an individual with a disability or disabled veteran, Armed Forces service medal veteran, recently separated veteran, or active duty wartime or campaign badge veteran, or thereafter referred collectively as "protected veterans. It is also the policy of City of Seattle to take affirmative action to employ and to advance in employment, all persons regardless of their status as individuals with disabilities or protected veterans, and to base all employment decisions only on valid job requirements. This policy shall apply to all employment actions, including but not limited to recruitment, hiring, upgrading, promotion, transfer, demotion, layoff, recall, termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation, and selection for training, including apprenticeship, at all levels of employment. Furthermore, the City of Seattle will provide qualified applicants and employees who request an accommodation due to a disability with reasonable accommodations, as required by law.

City of Seattle prohibits harassment of employees and applicants because they are individuals with disabilities or protected veterans. City of Seattle also prohibits retaliation against employees and applicants for filing a complaint, opposing any discriminatory act or practice, assisting or participating in any manner in a review, investigation, or hearing or otherwise seeking to obtain their legal rights under any Federal, State, or local EEO law requiring equal employment opportunity for individuals with disabilities and protected veterans. Prohibited retaliation includes, but is not limited to, harassment, intimidation, threats, coercion or other adverse actions that might dissuade someone from asserting their rights.

As Interim Director of Seattle Department of Human Resources, I am committed to the principles of affirmative action and equal employment opportunity. In order to ensure dissemination and implementation of equal employment opportunity and affirmative action throughout all levels of the City of Seattle, I have selected the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager to oversee this work. One of the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager's duties will be to establish and maintain an internal audit and reporting system to allow for effective measurement of City of Seattle's programs.

In furtherance of City of Seattle's policy regarding affirmative action and equal employment opportunity, City of Seattle has developed a written Affirmative Action Program (AAP) which sets forth the policies, practices and procedures that City of Seattle is committed to in order to ensure that its policy of nondiscrimination and affirmative action for qualified individuals with disabilities and qualified protected veterans is accomplished. This AAP is available for inspection by any employee or applicant for employment upon request between 8:00-4:00 at the Human Resources department. Any questions should be directed to me, your supervisor, or the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager via email at eeo@seattle.gov.

2-2 Review of Personnel Processes
(41 CFR 60741.44(b))

City of Seattle will comply with the requirement to periodically review its personnel processes by reviewing these processes annually to determine whether its present procedures assure careful, thorough, and systematic consideration of the qualifications of known individuals with disabilities. As part of this review, City of Seattle will also ensure that its personnel processes do not stereotype individuals with disabilities in a manner which limits their access to all jobs for which they are qualified. This review will cover all procedures related to the filling of job vacancies either by hire or by promotion, as well as to all training opportunities offered or made available to employees.

The following is a set of procedures the City of Seattle will use to meet the requirements of §60741.44(b):

1. Applicant records are maintained which indicate whether or not an applicant self-identified as an individual with a disability. This information can be retrieved for review by the Department of Labor and the contractor's personnel officials for use in investigations and internal compliance activities.
2. Records are maintained which indicate employees considered for competitive promotions within the organization. Employees are given the opportunity to voluntarily self-identify disability status.
3. Records are maintained regarding training opportunities granted to employees which include whether or not the employee has self-identified as an individual with a disability.
4. Any time a known applicant or employee with a disability is rejected for employment, promotion, or training, the City of Seattle prepares a statement outlining the reason.
5. Requests for accommodation due to a disability are maintained along with the nature of the request and whether or not the accommodation was granted. If the accommodation was denied, the City of Seattle prepares a statement describing the reason for denying the accommodation request. All accommodation records are treated as a confidential medical record in accordance with §60741(d).

2-3 Review of Physical and Mental Job Qualification Standards
(41 CFR 60741.44(c))

City of Seattle will review the physical and mental job qualification standards of each job opening before it is publicly or internally posted to ensure that, to the extent that such qualification requirements tend to screen out qualified individuals with disabilities, they are related to the job(s) in question and consistent with business necessity and the safe performance of the job. The physical and mental qualifications will also be reviewed as new jobs are established or job requirements are modified.

All job qualification requirements were found to be job related and consistent with business necessity and safety. City of Seattle will continue to review physical and mental job qualification requirements whenever a job vacancy will be filled through either hiring or promotion and will conduct a qualifications review whenever job duties change.

If City of Seattle at any time should inquire into an applicant's physical or mental condition or should conduct a medical examination, such inquiries or exams will be conducted in accordance with the Section 503 regulations and the information obtained as a result of the inquiry or exam will be kept confidential, except as otherwise provided for in the Section 503 regulations. The results of the examination or inquiry will only be used in accordance with the Section 503 regulations.

2-4 Reasonable Accommodation to Physical and Mental Limitations

City of Seattle will continue its longstanding commitment to making reasonable accommodation to the known physical or mental limitations of qualified individuals with disabilities unless doing so would impose an undue hardship on the operation of its business. The City of Seattle also commits to engaging in an interactive process with the person requesting the accommodation (or the person's representative), as needed, to determine an appropriate accommodation.

If an employee with a known disability has significant difficulty performing his or her job and it is reasonable to conclude that the performance problem may be related to the known disability, the manager or appropriate HR personnel will confidentially notify the employee of the performance problem and inquire whether the problem is related to the employee's disability. If the employee indicates that the performance problems are related to his or her disability, the employee is asked if reasonable accommodation is needed.

In determining the extent of the City of Seattle's accommodation obligations, the following factors are considered:

1. Business necessity; and
2. Financial cost and expense.

City of Seattle will also ensure that all requests for reasonable accommodation and any medical or disability-related information provided to City of Seattle will be treated as confidential medical records and maintained in a separate medical file.

2-5 Anti-Harassment Procedures
(41 CFR 60741.44(e))

Employees and applicants of City of Seattle will not be subject to harassment because of disability. Retaliation, including intimidation, threat, coercion, or discrimination, against an employee or applicant because they have objected to discrimination, engaged or may engage in filing a complaint, assisted in a review, investigation, or hearing or have otherwise sought to obtain their legal rights under any Federal, State, or local EEO law regarding individuals with disabilities is prohibited. Any employee or applicant who believes that they have been subject to retaliation should promptly contact a manager in their chain of command, or promptly contact the EEO Coordinator for assistance. The City of Seattle EEO Coordinator can be contacted via email at eeo@seattle.gov.

This policy will be made available for employees and applicants to view. Furthermore, City of Seattle will monitor its environment for the presence of any forms of harassment, intimidation, or coercion and, where warranted, takes corrective action.

2-6 External Dissemination of Policy, Outreach, and Positive Recruitment
(41 CFR 60741.44(f))

City of Seattle undertakes appropriate outreach and positive recruitment efforts in order to effectively attract individuals with disabilities. In order to comply with the external dissemination of the EEO and Affirmative Action policy, the City of Seattle will provide written or electronic notification to all current subcontractors, vendors, and suppliers and will continue to do so on an annual basis. The City of Seattle will also provide such notification to new subcontractors, vendors, and suppliers upon entering into a relationship with them. City of Seattle has informed its recruiting sources, including State employment agencies and local employment service delivery systems, of the City of Seattle's policy concerning the employment of qualified individuals with disabilities and will notify them of employment opportunities as they become available. City of Seattle requested all recruiting sources to actively recruit and refer qualified persons for job opportunities. City of Seattle will include the equal opportunity clause concerning the employment of qualified individuals with disabilities in all non-exempt subcontracts and purchase orders.

2-7 Internal Dissemination of Policy
(41 CFR 60741.44(g))

City of Seattle is developing internal procedures to communicate its obligation to engage in affirmative action efforts to employ and advance in employment qualified individuals with disabilities. Procedures are being designed to foster understanding, acceptance, and support among all employees and to encourage them to help City of Seattle meet this obligation.

The City of Seattle realizes that an outreach program is ineffective without the adequate internal support from management personnel and other employees. In order to ensure greater employee cooperation and participation in the City of Seattle's affirmative action efforts, City of Seattle is adopting policies and engaging in activities which are not limited to the following:

1. Copy of our AAP for Individuals with Disabilities is available for inspection to any employee or applicant upon request;
2. EEO Policy Statement and the EEO is the Law poster are placed on bulletin boards located throughout our facilities and work areas;
3. Electronic versions of the EEO Policy Statement and the EEO is the Law poster are clearly labeled and posted on the City of Seattle's intranet;
4. Meetings with executive, management, and supervisory personnel are held to explain the intent of the policy and individual responsibility for effective implementation;
5. Managers and supervisors are provided with affirmative action and EEO training upon commencement of their management roles;
6. Policy is discussed during employee orientation;
7. Union officials and/or employee representatives are informed of these policies; and
8. When employees are featured in publications, individuals with disabilities are included when available.

2-8 Audit and Reporting Systems
(41 CFR 60741.44(h))

The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager has the responsibility for the preparation and implementation of the AAP. Responsibility for the effective implementation of the AAP is also vested with each department manager and supervisor.

The following activities will be reviewed at least annually to ensure freedom from discrimination against, or stereotyping of, individuals with disabilities in any manner. During the self-audit, the following activities will be reviewed:

1. Recruitment, advertising, and job application procedures;
2. Implementation of hiring, promotion, upgrading, award of tenure, layoff, and recall from layoff;
3. Rates of pay and any other forms of compensation including fringe benefits;
4. Job assignments, job classifications, job descriptions, and seniority lists;
5. Awarding of sick leave, leaves of absence, or implementation of any other leave policies;
6. Participation in training, mentoring, or apprenticeship programs, and attendance at professional meetings and conferences; and
7. Application of any other term, condition, or privilege of employment, including participation in City of Seattle-sponsored educational, training, recreational, and social activities.

City of Seattle's audit system will include periodic reports provided by the Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager documenting the City of Seattle's efforts to achieve its EEO/AAP responsibilities. Managers and supervisors will be asked to report any current or foreseeable EEO problem areas and are asked to outline their suggestions/recommendations for solutions.

The following documents are maintained as a component of City of Seattle's internal audit process:

1. documentation of self-audit;
2. summary data of personnel activity including external job offers and hires, promotions, resignations, terminations, and layoffs by job group relating to individuals with disabilities;
3. and an applicant flow log showing the name, race, ethnicity, sex, disability status, veteran status, date of application, job title, and action taken for all individuals applying for job opportunities.

2-9 Responsibility for Implementation
(41 CFR 60741.44(i))

A. Responsibilities of EEO Coordinator:

The Affirmative Action & Equal Employment Opportunity Program Manager has been designated to direct the activities of the affirmative action program. This person will be responsible for ensuring the effective implementation of the City of Seattle's AAP. These responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

1. Implementing the AAP for individuals with disabilities, policy statements, personnel policies and procedures, internal and external communication of the policy, and monitoring the effectiveness of these actions;
2. Reviewing all personnel actions, policies, and procedures to ensure compliance with City of Seattle's affirmative action obligations;
3. Assisting Human Resources department with reviewing the qualifications of all applicants and employees considered/eligible for hiring, promotion, transfer, or layoff/reduction in force to ensure qualified individuals with disabilities are treated in a nondiscriminatory manner when hiring, promotion, transfer, or layoff/reduction in force occur;
4. Assisting in the development of solutions for any identified problem areas;
5. Monitoring the effectiveness of the program on a continuing basis through the development and implementation of an internal audit and reporting system that measures the effectiveness of the program;
6. Keeping management informed of equal opportunity progress and problems within the City of Seattle through, at a minimum, periodic reports;
7. Providing department managers with a copy of the AAP for individuals with disabilities and reviewing the program with them on an annual basis to ensure knowledge of their responsibilities for implementation of the program;
8. Reviewing the City of Seattle's AAP for individuals with disabilities with all managers and supervisors at all levels to ensure that the policy is understood and is followed in all personnel activities;
9. Assisting in ensuring that career development of employees who are individuals with disabilities is equal to that of other employees;
10. Auditing the contents of City of Seattle bulletin boards to ensure that required information is posted and up-to-date;
11. Serving as a liaison between City of Seattle and enforcement agencies; and
12. Serving as a liaison between City of Seattle and outreach and recruitment sources for individuals with disabilities.

B. Responsibilities of Managers and Supervisors:

Managers and supervisors are advised annually of their responsibilities under the City of Seattle's AAP for individuals with disabilities. These responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

1. Reviewing the City of Seattle's affirmative action policy for individuals with disabilities with subordinate managers and supervisors to ensure that they are aware of the policy and understand their obligation to comply with it in all personnel actions;

2. Reviewing the qualifications of all applicants and employees to ensure individuals with disabilities are treated in a nondiscriminatory manner when hiring, promotion, transfer, or layoff/reduction in force occur; and
3. Reviewing all employees' performance to ensure that non-discrimination is adhered to in all personnel activities.

2-10 Training
(41 CFR 60741.44(j))

All personnel involved in the recruitment, screening, selection, promotion, disciplinary, and related processes will receive annual training regarding City of Seattle’s AAP and their role in its implementation. Employees hired or promoted into these roles will also receive training on regulatory requirements under Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act soon after being hired or placed into these roles.

During the annual training, personnel will be advised of their responsibilities under the AAP for individuals with disabilities and of their obligations to:

1. Assist in the identification of problem areas, formulate solutions, and establish departmental goals and objectives when necessary;
2. Ensure qualified applicants and employees who are individuals with disabilities are treated in a nondiscriminatory manner in all employment practices, including when making selection decisions, such as for hire, promotion, training, or to receive awards or bonuses;
3. Provide reasonable accommodation to the known physical or mental limitations of qualified individuals with disabilities unless such accommodation would impose an undue hardship on the conduct of its business;
4. Maintain confidentiality of any information regarding self-identification of individuals with disabilities; and
5. Ensure that nondiscrimination is adhered to in all personnel activities.

2-11 Applicant and Hiring Data
(41 CFR 60741.44(k))

City of Seattle collects employee data pertaining to individuals with disabilities in order to assess the effectiveness of the City of Seattle’s outreach and recruitment efforts. We invite applicants to voluntarily inform the City of Seattle whether they believe they are individuals with disabilities in compliance with the Section 503 requirements. This data will be maintained for three years.

2-12 Utilization Analysis
(41 CFR 60741.45(d))

The utilization analysis is designed to evaluate the representation of individuals with disabilities in each job group within the contractor's workforce with the 7 percent utilization goal established by the OFCCP. The utilization goal is not a rigid and inflexible quota which must be met, nor is it to be considered either a ceiling or a floor for the employment of particular groups. Quotas are expressly forbidden.

Utilization Analysis
for Individuals with Di:

2-13 Identification of Problem Areas and Action-oriented Programs
(41 CFR 60741.45(e) and (f))

When the percentage of individuals with disabilities in one or more job groups is less than the utilization goal, the City of Seattle will take steps to determine whether and where impediments to equal employment opportunity exist. When making this determination, we will assess personnel processes, the effectiveness of the outreach and recruitment efforts, the results of our affirmative action program audit, and any other areas that might affect the success of the affirmative action program.

The City of Seattle will develop and will execute action-oriented programs designed to correct any identified problems areas. These action-oriented programs may include the modification of personnel processes to ensure equal employment opportunity for individuals with disabilities, alternative or additional outreach and recruitment efforts, and/or other actions designed to correct the identified problem areas and attain the established goal.

APPENDIX 6: Examples of Existing Action Oriented Programs

6-1: Programs and Resources Available to Active City Employees

Civil Service Commission (CSC)

The Civil Service Commission embraces the City of Seattle's Race and Social Justice Initiative (RSJI) and centers equitable treatment of employees. The CSC is actively working to embed racial equity in its processes and dismantling racist structures and practices over which it has control or influence. The CSC commits to the development of specific RSJ outcomes by January 2022.

The CSC acknowledges that we are on Indigenous land of the Duwamish, Suquamish, Stillaguamish, and Muckleshoot Tribes. We honor the traditional stewards of these lands and leaders of racial justice who continue to build vibrant communities here today.

The CSC conducts open, public hearings on employee appeals of personnel actions, including disciplinary demotions, suspensions, and terminations. CSC (or a CSC Hearing Examiner) acts as a neutral body when it hears an appeal and considers evidence and argument from both the employee and the decisionmaker/department. CSC hearings are administrative, so they are less formal than a court proceeding. After listening to the evidence and arguments, the CSC will deliberate and come to a decision whether the alleged violation occurred or not. Parties to an appeal may represent themselves or have another person represent them. They may hire an attorney, but do not need to do so.

The CSC has the power to modify or reverse a disciplinary decision if it determines that a department acted in violation of the Personnel Rules or city policies. The CSC investigates allegations of undue political influence in hiring decisions. The CSC reviews rules, policies, programs, and legislation related to the City's personnel system makes recommendations to the Mayor and the City Council.

Most regular City employees are members of the civil service and served by the Commission. Some classifications (types of jobs/positions) are exempt from Civil Service, including appointed positions, Assistant City Attorneys, positions in the Executive series, and employees of the Seattle Public Library. A comprehensive list of exempt positions can be found in the Seattle Municipal Code, SMC 4.13- Exemptions from Civil Service.

Human Resources Investigations Unit (HRIU)

The Mayor's Executive Order, 2018-04 created the Human Resources Investigations Unit (HRIU) to improve the City's response to discrimination, harassment, and misconduct allegations. HRIU is an independent investigative unit created in response to the City of Seattle employees' request for a fair and trusted investigations group with no connection to other in-house Human Resources departments or managers in their divisions.

HRIU conducts neutral, thorough, and timely investigations throughout all executive branch departments and the Library with the exception of Legislative, Municipal Court and Law. HRIU investigates complaints and alleged violations of applicable City Personnel Rules, and/or related policies. This includes allegations of harassment, discrimination, and misconduct. Any current or former City of Seattle employee, their management, Human Resources representative, union representative, or shop steward may request an HRIU investigation.

HRIU uses Trauma-Informed investigation procedures to ensure that employees are treated compassionately and fairly through all phases of the investigation process.

Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) investigations at the City of Seattle are listed under Personnel Rule 1.1, which addresses harassment, discrimination and retaliation. It also includes certain types of serious misconduct.

In August, the Learning & Development Team began reporting to the Director of HRIU. Previously reporting to the Workforce Equity Director, the Learning & Development team is experienced in delivering equity-focused training and development programs to City employees. This change in reporting structure shifts the attention of HRIU from fault-finding to proactively identifying learning opportunities which can be applied to all departments across the City.

Office for Civil Rights (OCR) Race and Social Justice Initiative (RSJI)

When the City of Seattle Race and Social Justice Initiative (RSJI) began in 2004, no U.S. city had ever undertaken an effort that focused explicitly on institutional racism. Since that time, Minneapolis, Madison (WI), Portland (OR), and King County, among others, have all established their own equity initiatives. Across the United States, local governments are acknowledging that race matters.

The movement for racial equity includes grassroots community, organizations, philanthropy, governments and other institutions. We all have different roles to play; we are all working together to end structural racism and achieve racial equity.

The City of Seattle's Race and Social Justice Initiative is a citywide effort to end institutionalized racism and race-based disparities in City government. The guiding principles of RSJI are undoing racism, sharing culture, learning from history, maintaining accountability, analyzing power, undoing internalized racial oppression, identifying and analyzing manifestations of racism, developing leadership, networking, and gatekeeping.

The Initiative's long-term goal is to change the underlying system that creates race-based disparities in our community and to achieve racial equity. RSJI recognizes that our racial/ethnic communities face challenges when it comes to civic engagement and access to City programs and services. In addition, newly arrived immigrants experience circumstances that are even more unique.

RSJI builds on the work of the civil rights movement and the ongoing efforts of individuals and groups in Seattle to confront racism. Through the Race and Social Justice Initiative, racial justice work is carried out by a citywide infrastructure - city workers and community members - that live in every branch of city government. This infrastructure works toward developing accountable relationships, analyzing the relationship between power and racism, and shifting structures and processes to create racially equitable outcomes.

RSJI provides racial equity support to city departments through trainings, technical assistance, hands-on facilitation, and community engagement. This targeted support is holistic and aims to address our environmental, structural, institutional, and individual goals for racial justice. With the support and guidance of dedicated RSJI Advisors and internal RSJI Change Teams, departments are encouraged to complete Racial Equity Toolkits (RETs) to guide the development, implementation and evaluation of policies, initiatives, programs, and budget issues to address the impacts on racial equity.

Office of Employee Ombud (OEO)

The Office of Employee Ombud was established by Ordinance #125735 in December 2018. The Office of the Ombud is a confidential, informal and independent resource that serves all current City of Seattle Employees. As a resource for all current City of Seattle Employees, the OEO empowers individuals and teams to transform conflict into quality work and learning and to ensure that employees have access to a resource for informally addressing workplace concerns in a fair and equitable manner. The Mission of the OEO as described by Ordinance #125735 is to:

- Assist City employees, in all branches of City government, in understanding and assessing options and resources to address concerns about or claims of workplace conduct that may be: inappropriate; a violation of the City’s Personnel Rules, City policies, workplace expectations; harassment, discrimination, or retaliation; and
- Provide analyses and recommendations of policy and rule changes needed to address departmental or system-wide inefficiencies and in-person training to prevent workplace discrimination and harassment in City employment.

At this time, the OEO is not a resource for former employees, non-employee applicants to City jobs, retirees, or the general public.

“With a transition back to physical offices, the implementation of a new City vaccine mandate, and new understandings of the continually changing needs of our City, the OEO continues to partner with all City staff to help deescalate the conflicts that will naturally arise during a time of such rapid change...”

Of the 215 cases opened in the last year, we achieved either full or partial resolution of 73%, while 20% had no action requested and 7% did not achieve resolution...

Our top three systemic trends have remained constant year to year, with 34% of cases directly related to issues of discrimination, 25% to lack of clarity in policy and 20% to lack of consistency in policy implementation including disciplinary processes... We believe these five actions, if taken by the City, would substantially address the ongoing systemic trends we have seen:

1. Devote substantial resources and energy to collecting Citywide data about disciplinary action and, eventually, develop a consistent citywide guideline for disciplinary action.
2. Develop a comprehensive leadership support structure including training, mentorship programs, and coaching for all people leaders at the City.
3. Develop a transition management model for consistent use throughout the City.

4. Develop reintegration protocols for staff returning from leave.
5. Streamline ADA processes.

We also outline our own capacity building efforts to help address systemic trends and provide updates on our work on the Hate Crimes Executive Order. Our 2022 Priorities will also help guide our work in the coming year. Those priorities are:

1. Develop a Change Manage Protocol for the City.
2. Offer Executive Coaching to City Leaders.
3. Pilot the Trauma Informed Care program.
4. Discipline Data Project.
5. Streamline ADA processes.
6. Pilot Anti-Extremism Training.”

Gender Justice Project

The Gender Justice Project is a City of Seattle effort to create an inclusive workplace and city. We seek to end gender- and race-based inequities in the City workforce and in City policies, programs and service delivery. The project envisions a city where a person’s gender, gender identity, and race will no longer determine the ability to earn a living wage, access to housing, or the ability to achieve healthy life outcomes. The Gender Justice Project seeks to lift the entire community by using targeted strategies that center those most marginalized to achieve universal outcomes for all.

The goal of the Gender Justice Project is to support City staff in providing the best in customer service by ensuring inclusivity is a part of every interaction. This is achieved by working to advance policy solutions that promote equity and by ensuring that education, awareness, and training is made available to all City staff.

Workforce Equity Planning & Advisory Committee (WEPAC)

The Workforce Equity Planning & Advisory Committee (WEPAC) guides and supports leaders at the City of Seattle to be fully inclusive of people of color and other historically under-represented groups. It is tasked to make recommendations on how to dismantle institutional and structural barriers to racial equity in City of Seattle employment. WEPAC views their ultimate aim as to enable a City of Seattle workforce that is equitable and profoundly inclusive. This would mean that all employees belong and are heard, valued, and able to reach their full career potential and contribute to the well-being of the City of Seattle.

In 2022, WEPAC worked with over 100 employees at all levels of City employment to develop a Workforce Equity Strategic Plan 5-Year Refresh. They conducted stakeholder engagement and collected qualitative and quantitative employee data sources to identify 3 focus areas for the next 5 years:

1. Increased career mobility for BIPOC womxn in entry-level roles
2. Increased representation of Indigenous and Latine in employment at the City
3. Increased BIPOC womxn in upper levels of pay and supervisory levels at the City.

These issues were analyzed by subcommittees, led by WEPAC members and consisting of employees from departments across the City, and compared to the employee lifecycle.

The following strategic themes were identified as drivers for the Strategic Plan Refresh:

1. Remove Barriers to Equity in Internal Hiring Process: Develop and support entry-level & mid-level hiring pool from existing, internal, BIPOC womxn employees
2. Mentorship, Learning, & Culturally Responsive Cohorts: Black, Indigenous, and Latine Womxn employees have culturally responsive support in bringing their full selves to the workplace and thriving in their career paths at the City.
3. Attract & Gain Indigenous and Latine talent to City jobs: Improve City services to Indigenous and Latine/x communities by having an inclusive and representative workforce.
4. Employee Engagement: Develop and implement existing data collection tools to better understand how to support an inclusive workforce.
5. Relational Culture: Enable all employees, particularly Black, Indigenous, & Latine womxn to thrive in the City workplace and best serve the people who live and work in Seattle.
6. Emerging Employee Needs: Ensure emerging and emergency employee needs center those most impacted by structural racism on an annual basis and track and measure impacts.

The Workforce Equity Strategic Plan Refresh and accompanying action plan is currently in development and is expected to be published in 2023.

Seattle Department of Transportation (SDOT) Office of Equity and Economic Inclusion (OEEI)

The Office of Equity and Economic Inclusion (OEEI) is responsible for leading the strategic vision and leadership in the planning, promotion and advancement of equity and diversity, and leads SDOT to measurable improvements. OEEI promotes and upholds equity at SDOT through internal advocacy, partnership with the SDOT Change Team, and the portfolios of WMBE and Contracting Equity, Race and Social Justice Initiative, Transportation Equity, EEO, and Title VI. As a recipient of Federal Transit Authority (FTA) grant funds, the Office of Equity and Economic Inclusion is responsible for the writing and ongoing management of the Seattle Department of Transportation Equal Employment Opportunity Plan. A copy of the 2016-2020 EEO Plan is available online.

Through the Office of Equity and Economic Inclusion, the Seattle Department of Transportation partners with community to build a racially equitable and socially just transportation system. The Transportation Equity program provides department-wide policy and strategic guidance on equitable, safe, environmental sustainable, accessible, and affordable transportation systems that support Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) communities, low-income populations, people living with disabilities, and other communities historically and currently underinvested in by government. The program's principles center on building community trust through engagement and accountability, eliminating racial disparities, and mitigating the effects of displacement from transportation inequities.

6-2: Programs and Resources Managed by Seattle Department of Human Resources

Seattle Department of Human Resources provides a number of programs, opportunities, tools, and resources available to all Departments and employees citywide.

Workforce Equity

In 2013, a National Partnership for Women and Families report revealed that women in the Seattle region have the largest pay gap in the country. Under former Mayor McGinn's administration, a Gender Equity in Pay Task Force was established to examine disparities in pay at the City of Seattle. The Task Force created a report entitled Gender Equity in Pay at the City of Seattle, which explored potential institutional and systemic causes of gender pay inequity and provided a comprehensive set of recommendations to the City to address the gender-based pay gap.

In April 2014, Mayor Murray and the Council passed a joint resolution directing the Seattle Department of Human Resources (SDHR) to work in collaboration with the Seattle Office for Civil Rights (SOCR) to further study, identify and begin to address potential policies and practices responsible for pay disparities based on gender, race, sexual orientation or identity. In response to the resolution three studies were conducted with external consultants to provide comprehensive data to help direct comprehensive Workforce Equity Initiatives.

The first study was released February 9th, 2015 by Towers Watson investigating different paid parental leave models. The study subsequently informed the Paid Parental Leave Legislation which was approved by City Council on April 6th, 2015. Also in April 2015 DCI consulting group finalized a gender and race/ethnicity pay equity study of City employees with the release of a report entitled The City of Seattle Workforce Pay Equity and Utilization Study. Additionally, a citywide assessment of HR policies and practices was completed in April 2015 by Point B consulting.

A Workforce Equity Initiative Executive Order was established on March 31st, 2015 declaring Workforce Equity a City priority. Within the Executive Order the Seattle Department of Human Resources (SDHR) in collaboration with the Seattle Office for Civil Rights (SOCR) is charged with leading an Interdepartmental Team (WEPAC) to develop and implement models and metrics for Workforce Equity that address the gender and racial/ethnic gaps on a systemic and organizational level. SDHR is also directed to work with departments to create consolidated and aligned HR policies and practices to create consistent and equitable treatment of employees Citywide.

The initial Workforce Equity Strategic plan was completed July 1, 2016 and identified several platform (cultural change) and workforce investment (benefit) strategies to move the City towards a more equitable workplace. Many of these strategies were funded beginning January 1, 2017, including positions to:

1. Consolidate and align Human Resources functions citywide to ensure a more equitable experience for all city employees
2. Create an Employment Pathways plan for the City of Seattle, with a focus on green careers for under-represented and marginalized employee groups
3. Create an Unbiased Employment Decision Making Training Program for all supervisors and managers
4. Create a leadership accountability plan for the highest levels of leadership in the City (department and division directors)

Disparities in the experiences of employees at the City, particularly Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) employees, historically were not formally tracked and measured. Knowing where to focus limited resources in removing barriers to employment at, and inclusion in, the City workforce is strategically important to workforce equity work at the City. It also prevents the City from measuring progress towards becoming an inclusive workplace. Tracking key metrics over time is one attempt at beginning to address the disparities in the City workforce.

Employees in caregiving roles experience inequitable barriers to participating in the workplace. Creating a more robust paid parental leave benefit and extending paid family leave beyond parental leave were both workforce investment strategies in the 2016 WFE Strategic Plan.

In February 2017, Ordinance 125260 expanded the City paid parental leave (PPL) to provide twelve possible weeks of fully paid leave (prorated for part-time employees) to allow employees to bond with a new child. This benefit is subject to the availability of other leave. The policy is available to eligible City employees who welcome a new child via birth, adoption, or fostering.

The ordinance also created a new paid family care leave (PFCL) for City employees to care for ill family members for up to four weeks. This benefit is subject to the availability of other leave. PFCL and the added weeks of PPL became available (retroactively) starting January 1, 2017.

Throughout 2022, the Workforce Equity Division was reorganized within the Seattle Department of Human Resources in order align SHR's commitment to leading the City's workforce with a continued emphasis on equity.

In March, the Fire & Police Exams and the Workforce Development units moved from Workforce Equity to the Talent Acquisition Team, allowing for more streamlined process integration to support recruitment and retention at the City. The Workforce Development unit also launched the Career Quest Flash Mentorship program, which connects current employee mentees with employee mentors to conduct one-hour informational interviews. Through flash mentorships, employees can explore potential career paths, build networks, and identify skills to develop.

In August, the following organizational changes took place:

- Equity Performance Management Program Development moved to the Service Delivery Division in order to more closely align with, and improve upon, the existing E3 Performance Management system. For more information, see the existing E3 Performance Management System section below;
- Cornerstone Program management moved to the Workforce Analytics and Reporting Unit (WARU) within the Shared Administrative Services (SAS) division. This creates an opportunity to align people analytics with the Cornerstone Learning Management System;
- The Learning & Development team moved the Human Resources Investigations Unit. See the HRIU section above for more details;
- Workforce Equity Program Management remained with the Workforce Equity Division. The core work of this team consists of Citywide Affirmative Action / Equal Employment Opportunity (AA/EEO) program management, Citywide equity consulting, Language Premium Pay program management, Workforce Equity Strategic Planning, and the facilitation and management of the Workforce Equity Planning & Advisory Committee (WEPAC). See the WEPAC section above for more details.

Alternative Work Arrangements (AWAs)

In February of 2020, the Alternative Work Agreement- Community of Human Resources Practice (AWA-CHRP) met with the Mayor’s Office to review the permanent AWA program and gain approval prior to launching citywide. The City had been in the pilot phase since January 2019 when the program was rolled out in response to the decommission of the Alaskan Way Viaduct. The permanent program included updated program guidelines, creation of a management training module and toolkit, and an employee-initiated automated application workflow. This new workflow was designed to provide the City with employee data on the types of AWAs that were being requested, approved, and denied, as well as supplemental data on the reason for the denials.

The program implementation was fast-tracked due to the impacts of COVID-19 and the WA State “Stay Home, Stay Healthy” Order for all City employees, whose job allowed, to immediately begin teleworking. At any given time since the Stay Home Order, about 40-50% of City employees have worked remotely, with more than 75% of employees and supervisors and managers sharing they liked teleworking, thought it was possible to work effectively remotely, and that they hoped to continue teleworking to some degree after the Stay Home Order is lifted. The racial disparities of who is able to telework and who continued in public facing roles have not yet been analyzed.

Anti-Harassment and Anti-Discrimination

In early 2018, an Anti-Harassment Interdepartmental Team (IDT) was convened to review the City of Seattle's harassment and discrimination policies and practices and create more accountability, transparency, consistency, and equity. The work resulted in a report with 35 recommendations and 125 strategies focused on making our City a safe, welcoming, and inclusive workplace. These recommendations focused on addressing and preventing workplace discrimination and harassment by providing strategic recommendations in the following categories:

- Continued work
- Commitment & Accountability
- Policy
- Reporting
- Training
- Areas for Further Review & Consideration.

The recommendations are grounded with a deliberate foundation of racial equity and social justice and are designed to enable greater accountability, culture change, reframing, resourcing, and systemic change. They are a necessary starting place for the City's work.

In September 2018, Mayor Jenny Durkan signed Executive Order 2018-04: Anti-Harassment and Anti-Discrimination to establish the parameters for engaging in this work with a goal of setting a welcoming, inclusive, and safe work environment, where everyone can do their best work. One of the recommendations from the Anti-harassment Interdepartmental team was the creation of the Office of Employee Ombud. The Anti-harassment Interdepartmental Team now provides continued oversight and helps ensure that the policies the Executive Order established are implemented Citywide.

Employee Performance Management System: Equity, Engagement & Expectations (E3)

The Equity, Engagement & Expectations (E3) Performance Management program standardizes performance evaluation tools. E3 focuses on a partnership between employees and managers, building stronger communication, collaboration, and respect through understanding. Supervisors gain learning opportunities to identify strategies that reduce bias in employee evaluation practices. The system uses goal setting and evaluations to recognize employees for their skills and efforts. This includes setting goals, regularly scheduled one-on-one meetings, a formally documented mid-year check-in, and an annual review including a self-assessment written by the employee. Evaluation occurs in three areas: Goals and Key Responsibilities, Competencies, and Overall Performance.

The E3 pilot started in April 2016 with four departments and 963 employees. An additional sixteen departments and 3,584 staff have launched since. In 2018, the annual review was updated in response to feedback to streamline the process and provide HR business partners more control over the system.

A new training for HR business partners includes guides to complete the alignment step, bias and equity considerations, and training for managers to write performance reviews. At the end of 2019, there were 20 departments with 4,547 employees and managers participating in the E3 program.

In 2020, the annual mid-year check-in process was paused Citywide to provide breathing room to staff as they adapted to new work circumstances and stressors in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic and the resulting “Stay Home, Stay Healthy” order. Additionally, City supervisors and managers were advised to use the rating of “meets expectations” (“fully performing” in E3) as a minimum standard for annual review with exceptions for documented, verifiable poor performance and misconduct with HR review. Supervisors were still able to provide narrative comments and to provide a rating of “exceeds expectations.”

The regular cadence of employee goal setting, mid-year check in, annual performance review, and human resources business partner alignment step was completed in 2021 and 2022.

Employment Pathways Interdepartmental Team

The City of Seattle workforce does not reflect the demographics of the communities we serve at higher levels of pay or supervisory authority. The goal of the Employment Pathways Interdepartmental Team (IDT) was to develop recommendations to create an inclusive and diverse workforce that is best able to serve Seattle communities because it is representative of the people who live and work in the greater Seattle area. The recommendations focus on an upskill-backfill model to create career pathways which is necessary since only 6% of the City’s allocated positions are entry-level. The upskill-backfill model helps current employees train for higher-skill roles (upskill), creating open positions and opportunities for entry-level workers and new hires to fill (backfill). The upskill-backfill model also promotes employee engagement and retention and enhances culture through learning and development.

The City’s Employment Pathways Interdepartmental Team (EP IDT) proposed recommendations to address this problem by promoting equitable access and advancement opportunities for City employees beginning with entry-level employees. Some of this work was transferred relevant Communities of Human Resources Practice (CHRP) groups for further guidance.

The COVID-19 pandemic in 2020, and the resulting financial impacts, reduced funding for and participation in internship and Career Quest programs.

Internship Community of Human Resources Practice (CHRP)

Seattle Department of Human Resources partnered with the Internship CHRP in creating an exit survey for interns. This survey will be used to identify program strengths and weaknesses and guide future process improvements to enable a more positive educational experience for interns.

Mentorship Community of Human Resources Practice (CHRP)

In Q4 2020, SHR brought together 10+ departments 16 to discuss ways to align and expand mentorship programs. This work was guided by historic recommendations from both the City Leadership Academy and the Employment Pathways Interdepartmental Team. In 2022, the Career Quest Flash Mentorship Program was piloted and a soft launch occurred in Q4. For more information on the Career Quest Flash Mentorship Program, see the Workforce Equity section above.

Fire & Police Hiring Equity

Council Resolution 31588 directed the Seattle Police (SPD) and Seattle Fire (SFD) Departments to assess policies, practices, and potential barriers to inclusion for women and People of Color in these departments. Success will be reached when each department has a workforce reflective of the people who live and work in Seattle by race and gender, where each member is included and belongs. A key change underway is removing barriers to equity in the hiring practices at each department based on the hiring equity action plans developed in 2017.

As mentioned in the Workforce Equity section above, the Fire & Police Exams unit moved to the Talent Acquisition division of Seattle Human Resources in March, 2022.

Additional information on the participant demographics for Seattle Fire Department and Seattle Police Department hiring exams can be found in Appendix 7.

Language Premium Pay

Language Premium pay was negotiated between the City of Seattle and the Coalition of City Labor Unions in 2019, with an effective date of December 25, 2019. Ordinance 126010 adds Section 4.20.360 to the Seattle Municipal Code. The Language Premium program was successfully launched Citywide on July 1, 2022. Within the first 6 months, approximately 90 employees across 7 departments were enrolled in the program. This program represents a wage equity initiative that closes the pay gap between Women of Color, primarily Latine women, and white men.

The goal of the program is to ensure that all employees who provide language services to support city business are properly evaluated, assigned, and compensated. Employees assigned to the Language Premium Program will receive a $200 monthly stipend for each month the employee is assigned. All employees within Executive Departments and Office of the City of Seattle are eligible to participate in the Language Premium program regardless of union representation, regular or full-time status. This includes employees working as full-time, part-time, regular, intermittent, union represented, non-represented, supervisor, manager, individual contributor, and internship status.

Leadership Expectations and Accountability Program (LEAP)

Leadership Accountability was highlighted as a key strategy in the Workforce Equity Strategic Plan during the employee survey, literature review, interviews with City Leadership, employee listening sessions, and benchmarking against regional employers. The LEAP will be available Citywide and is targeted for use by department directors and their executive leadership.

The LEAP includes a guide, a self-assessment tool, and an action-steps tool. The LEAP is intended primarily as a learning tool with the City's value of a culture of learning. Success in Leadership Accountability will exist when Department Directors own their racial equity learning in performance reviews and act on racial disparities in their department whether it is in hiring, discipline, access to training, or employee exits.

Full release of the LEAP was placed on hold in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The SHR Executive team, Seattle Parks and Recreation Department, and the Seattle Information Technology department begin piloting the LEAP in 2020.

Minimize Bias in Employment Decisions (MBED)

The MBED program was originally conceived to proactively minimize bias and increase equity in all employment decisions by managers, supervisors, and employees involved in employment decisions (i.e. recruiting, hiring, promoting, and discipline processes). The aim of this deliverable was to develop and share with participants: learning content, information, support tools, and strategies on how to recognize and minimize bias in their decision-making during these processes.

In 2019, MBED training resources were reprioritized to support Anti-Harassment and Anti-Discrimination efforts, such as developing supervisor/manager training that includes addressing racial bias. This aligns with incorporating the MBED curriculum into the supervisor/manager training being developed in 2019 and piloted in 2020.

In 2020, MBED focused on employee learning and data analysis.

Employee Learning: SHR Learning and Development consults with departments on Minimizing Bias facilitation in a limited capacity. Minimizing bias is also an integrated part of the New Supervisory Training under development.

Data Analysis: The SHR Workforce Equity team continued to track bias in employee monetary discipline and performance review processes at the City. Monetary discipline actions are those where employee pay is impacted including suspensions, demotions, and terminations for cause. The trends show increasing disparities in both discipline and performance reviews for employees of color at the City.

Paid Parental Leave (PPL) & Paid Family and Medical Leave (PFML)

A study released in 2013 by the National Partnership for Women and Families revealed that across the nation, women earn just 77 cents for every dollar earned by men. In the Seattle metro area that number drops to 73 cents for every dollar and identifies significant pay inequities between women and men in the workplace.

To address gender inequities at the City of Seattle, the Mayor and the Council introduced a joint resolution that instructed the City to:

- Develop training and strategies that address gender equity in the workplace, with a focus on institutional and structural sexism, and the intersections of race, gender and gender identity.
- Identify policies and practices that may contribute to disparities; make recommendations for pay, practice and policy adjustments based on findings; examine the root causes of inequities; and identify strategies for change.
- Conduct a study on paid parental leave, identify potential strategies and propose additional family friendly policies.
- Create a citywide leadership and management development program for employees and provide opportunities for career growth in under-represented employee groups.

Since then, the City has made strides toward achieving these gender equity goals. In April 2015, the City of Seattle adopted a Paid Parental Leave Program that provides eligible employees up to twelve weeks (480 hours) paid leave to bond with their new child. This leave entitlement is pro-rated for part-time employees. Employees must use the leave before the first anniversary of the child's birth or placement and can be used in addition to other accrued leave, including vacation and sick leave. In addition, the City added leave benefits this year that will reduce barriers primarily for women.

The City also provided a new leave benefit – Paid Family Care Leave (PFCL), which allows employees up to four weeks of paid leave to care for a family member. The PFCL benefit runs concurrent with and tracks eligibility consistent with the Federal Family Medical Leave Act benefit. The City's PFCL can not be used for the employee's own care.

Washington is one of six states that offers Paid Family and Medical Leave benefits to workers. This is a state-run program funded by premiums paid by both employees and employers. It is administered by the Washington State Employment Security Department (ESD). As directed by the Legislature, premium assessment began on Jan. 1, 2019 and benefits began on Jan. 1, 2020.

Like paid parental leave, PFML has been proven to increase employee engagement and morale, reduce employee anxiety and stress, and increase workforce inclusion.

The City modified the rules governing use of PFML by removing the requirement that the (full) four-week benefit be subject to the existence of leave accumulations, effectively providing four unconditional weeks to employees. At this time, the City also expanded the list of eligible family relationships under PFCL to include grandparents, grandchildren, and siblings of employees.

In 2022, the City piloted a PFML subsidy program, which allows employees the ability to use sick or vacation leave to "top off" their Washington State PFML allowance, bringing employees up to full pay.

The City's Employment & Application System

The City of Seattle utilized a system that was implemented in 2004 and allowed candidates to apply for positions online. Via the online system applicants could submit an application, resume and cover letter plus update their availability and EEO data.

In 2010, the City replaced its existing on-line employment system with NeoGov. In addition to the features mentioned above, NeoGov allows individuals to indicate interest in a job area and when a job matching this area is posted, an e-mail notification is sent to the potential applicant. NeoGov is the same applicant tracking system that is used by GovernmentJobs.com, Seattle Housing Authority, Seattle Public Schools, Bellevue College, Olympic College, King County, Snohomish County, City of Tacoma, City of Kirkland, and the State of Washington, among others.

An advantage of having employers in the local area with the same system is that a potential applicant needs to learn only one way to apply to some employers in fairly close proximity. We hope this shared tool will create a community where we will be encouraged to share human resources and outreach strategies among local employers to increase the number of women and minorities employed in this region.

The City is committed to proactive recruitment strategies, centrally and across departments, to ensure we consistently have a diverse pool of qualified applicants responding to all job postings. Additionally, rather than just advertising, the City promotes efforts to actively utilize sourcing that identifies exceptional, qualified personnel (especially, minority and women) to apply for City positions.

Recruitment Activities

The City is actively engaged with a wide variety of recruiting projects to ensure that women and minorities have equal opportunity to compete for advertised City vacancies.

The following efforts are led by the Seattle Department of Human Resources:

1. In 2021, the Seattle Department of Human Resources Talent Acquisition team developed the Citywide Job Posting Guidelines and disseminated this information to Human Resources professionals within the City. These guidelines lay out the required steps for drafting an effective job advertisement that is consistent with City of Seattle best practices for supporting an equitable hiring process including, position description, job responsibilities, qualifications, additional information, and supplemental questions.
2. The Seattle Department of Human Resources Talent Acquisition team has also implemented a methodology called Talent, Experience, Alignment (TEA) with a goal of citywide adoption to ensure consistent and equitable hiring practices. TEA reflects SHR's commitment to antiracism by removing barriers from the hiring process, deemphasizing formal education and years of experience, and placing a stronger emphasis on the applicant's potential, skills, and values. The SHR Talent Acquisition team partners closely with citywide recruiters across departments to education and train on the TEA model. Currently, this model is utilized by Seattle City Light, Seattle Department of Transportation, Seattle Information Technology, Seattle Public Utilities, and the 20 departments supported by the Seattle Human Resources Service Delivery Division.
 - Talent – This component is about potential – having skills and passion to be successful in the role the applicant is being considered for. This area describes not just what someone can do, but how successfully they do it. Skills that fall into this area include ability to learn, adaptability and flexibility, critical thinking and problem-solving, managing workload, accountability, and professional development.
 - Experience – This is where technical skills, knowledge, and experience are evaluated. This area covers both the depth and the breadth of someone's experience. This area could include knowledge gained through training, technical skills honed, specific software skills, education, lived experience, or keeping up with current developments and trends in areas of expertise related to the position.
 - Alignment – This component evaluates the fundamental values of the applicant and how they align with both the needs of the position and the department. This is where an applicant's commitment to Race & Social Justice, Equity, and Inclusion are considered. Other areas might include a commitment to the department's values, ethics, integrity, respect, teamwork, conflict resolution, customer service, communication, and a focus on results.

3. Seattle Department of Human Resources is committed to continuing to lead a collaborative effort across the City’s recruitment community to promote consistent and equitable hiring practices that improve the internal and external candidate experience and generate an even richer City workforce and culture.
4. Seattle Department of Human Resources has established and continues to lead a citywide talent acquisition workgroup, “Talent Table Talks”, that focuses on crafting job advertisements and descriptions aimed at screening in Black, Indigenous, People of Color (BIPOC) and women applicants.
5. The City offers all employees, including minority and women employees, the opportunity to participate in Career Fairs, Youth Employment Programs, and related activities in the community. Event invitations and participation greatly decreased due to the pandemic. The City attended 80 virtual and in-person events in 2022. This does not include WorkSource hiring events, which the City actively promotes and participates in.

The activities listed below are citywide practices lead by individual departments or talent acquisition teams:

1. Seattle Information Technology Department (ITD) began piloting the use of Textio software to identify and eliminate bias in job postings that may otherwise discourage potential candidates to apply.
2. The City will continue to work with minority and women’s organizations for referrals.
3. The City actively encourages minority employees to refer applicants.
4. The City actively encourages the dissemination of all job advertisements to all employee affinity groups (African-American Affinity Group, Blacks in Government, Latino City Employees and SEqual-City of Seattle LGTBQ Employees for Equality, Civic Employees of Seattle, Seattle Silence Breakers, among others). To ensure that recruitment efforts meet the needs of these organizations, the City also considers additional requests for information or clarifications.
5. Whenever possible, the City undertakes special employment programs such as:
 1. Technical and non-technical co-op programs with local colleges.
 2. Seattle Youth Employment Program (SYEP).
 3. Work-study programs for college students.
 4. Including minority and women members of the workforce in recruiting media which visually present work situations.

Employment Activities

The City will conduct the following activities to ensure that minority and women employees and applicants have an equal opportunity to be considered for City vacancies:

1. Periodically review position descriptions to ensure they accurately reflect position functions;
2. review City class specifications as a result of a request for a review of a particular job title, an approved classification study, or an outcome of a reclassification request. The City classification specifications are nondiscriminatory with respect to race, color, religion, sex and other measures;
3. Continue to make position descriptions and class specifications available to all members of management involved in the recruiting, screening, selection and promotion process. Copies of position descriptions and class specifications for job openings are available to all recruiting sources at online at www.seattle.gov/jobs;
4. The City will continue to observe the requirements of the Uniform Guidelines on Employee Selection Procedures (41 CFR § 60-3).

Supported Employment Program

The Supported Employment Program is a progressive approach to improving workforce productivity and employing people with developmental disabilities. What the City has discovered is that Supported Employment not only benefits people with developmental disabilities, but also enhances workplaces and improves workforce productivity and diversity. The program provides an excellent opportunity to increase the effectiveness of a department and help a person who might otherwise be excluded from the workforce.

This program offers positions that facilitate competitive work in settings where such employment has not traditionally occurred. Participants are able to receive ongoing job support services. To participate in this program, candidates must be referred by a Washington State service provider.

In 2022, the City of Seattle employed 102 supported employees across seventeen City Departments with 82% of supported employment jobs in office settings. This is an unprecedented shift from food service and custodial work as the primary employment options for individuals with developmental disabilities. Furthermore, supported employees at the City of Seattle receive the highest wages in the Nation.

Youth Employment Programs

College Internships

This program is designed to enhance a student's educational experience, job skills and employability and provide an opportunity to gain hands-on work experience. Participation in the college internship program is conditioned on maintaining continuous student status and making satisfactory progress in both the internship and academic studies.

Cooperative Interns (undergraduate)

Cooperative internships are for undergraduate students enrolled in an accredited educational program. The work is closely aligned with their degree program.

Municipal Interns (graduate) Work experience includes training and mentoring in projects and work closely aligned with their degree program (e.g., Accounting and Engineering).

Work-Study Program

The Seattle Department of Human Resources' Student Employment Programs has opportunities for students receiving Financial Aid through their college during the academic year and school breaks. This program is designed to supplement financial assistance for students where the school pays 60 percent of the wages, and the City department pays the balance. Students eligible for Work Study funds through their financial aid awards may apply for current job openings. Work is limited to 19-40 hours a week based on State funding. Continued employment is dependent on Work-Study eligibility and satisfactory school and work performance.

Seattle Youth Employment Program (SYEP)

Interns in this program work 8 weeks or 150 hours (whichever comes first). Work experience is in a variety of areas including computer systems, clerical and maintenance. The Seattle Youth Employment Program enables the City to work with students in generating an interest in the types of careers that the City has to offer. They provide students with hands-on experiences that will hopefully spark the interests of students to continue their education after high school to obtain the skills necessary to work at the City.

Career Quest

Career Quest is a career management program that provides customized career development opportunities for employees who wish to broaden their skills or seek assistance with their long-term career goals. The program has two primary goals:

- Provide customized career development opportunities for City of Seattle employees seeking to develop and upgrade their skills.
- Align career development opportunities with the City of Seattle's current and future workforce needs.

The Career Quest program currently offers access to career coaching and career development workshops. The tuition scholarship component is no longer funded, but is being considered for 2023.

In 2022, the Career Quest Flash Mentorship Program was launched. For more information, see the Workforce Equity section above.

Initiatives Supporting Equitable Promotions

The City is reviewing and developing the following initiatives to ensure that all employees have equal access to promotions and opportunities for upward mobility.

- a. Creating equitable, consistent and fair processes for advertising, recruiting, and filling promotional opportunities.
- b. Developing training for hiring managers on interviewing, candidate assessment and implicit bias.
- c. Enhancing all existing training and leadership development programs through a race and social justice lens.
- d. Developing leadership training that would increase career opportunities at all levels of the organization and close skill gaps related to systemic inequities.

Additionally, the City currently offers all employees the following programs to support opportunities for career mobility:

- a. Leadership skills training to hone employee development and proactive coaching skills for the City's management personnel: New Supervisor Orientation, Communicating for Leadership Success, Coaching for Peak Performance, City Leadership Academy and Coaching for Emerging City Leaders.
- b. Career development workshops: Navigating Your Career at the City, Interviewing Skills, Resume Writing.
- c. In September 2019, the City upgraded from Lynda.com to LinkedIn Learning. The LinkedIn Learning subscriptions include all of the same online video content that was available on Lynda.com plus more and personalized recommendations for users.
- d. Citywide supervisor training (available to supervisory personnel in all departments; this program is generic and focuses on supervisory skills that could apply to all levels of management regardless of their differing lines of City business).
- e. Human in Human Resources training (available to all human resource professionals in all departments; this training program provides an anti-racist and human-centered approach to human resource management and centers the experience of Black, Indigenous, employees of color).

Citywide Employee Exit & Engagement Survey

The City aims to have a vibrant and safe workplace where all employees can bring their full selves to work and grow in their roles. However, employees of color and women leave employment at the City at a disproportionate rate. Exit and Engagement surveys will help the City and departments understand why this is the case and how to shift department workplace cultures to improve inclusion of all employees. The aim of collecting this information is to improve employee retention and satisfaction. This, in turn, will improve service to the people who live, work, and play in Seattle.

Employee Exit Survey

The Exit survey launched Citywide in January of 2019 and a racial equity toolkit (RET) was completed in Fall 2019. The Employee Exit survey response rate dropped from 43% in 2020 to 39% at the end of 2022.

After four years of data, women (40%) and especially minority women (38%) were more likely to cite conflict or culture as reasons for leaving. In 2022, 42% of BIPOC women cited conflict or culture, while 45% of white men did.

Employee Engagement Survey

The citywide rollout of the Employee Engagement survey was planned for 2020, however, the COVID-19 pandemic resulted in a shift in the plan. Instead, the Workforce Equity Planning and Advisory Committee (WEPAC) was able to collaborate with over 25 employees across departments to deliver and analyze a survey in July 2020. The survey asked employees about their wellbeing, ability to safely report to City worksites, and supports needed by employees who participated in the shift to teleworking due to the pandemic.

APPENDIX 7: Fire and Police Exams

The Fire and Police Exams Unit is located within the Seattle Department of Human Resources (SDHR). The primary function is to develop and administer merit-based entry-level and promotional exams under the direction of the Public Safety Civil Service Commission (PSCSC), on behalf of the Seattle Police and Fire Departments, and in accordance with State Law and City Ordinance. The goal is to administer exams that are equitable, compliant, and transparent.

- No Adverse Impact
 - No evidence of adverse impact on entry level or promotional exams was found.
 - Firefighter and Entry Police Officer exams produced eligibility lists that reflected the diversity of the Seattle and King County communities. Please note, for the Firefighter exam, “Asian or Pacific Islander” was slightly underrepresented, and “Hispanic or Latino” was slightly over-represented compared to Seattle and King County demographics.
 - Promotional exams produced registers that were reflective of the racial and gender demographics of those who applied.
- Reduced Barriers to Testing
 - In 2022, the Firefighter examination process was modified such that candidates were no longer required to travel to the City of Seattle to complete their initial tests. Higher numbers of BIPOC-identifying individuals both completed and passed the exam in 2022 compared to 2020 and 2018.
