Statement from OPA Interim Director Bonnie Glenn on the end of the consent decree

SEATTLE—The Seattle Office of Police Accountability (OPA) recognizes this monumental achievement for the City of Seattle at the end of the Consent Decree. As we enter this next chapter of policing and oversight, OPA remains committed to its vision of safeguarding a culture of accountability within the Seattle Police Department. OPA will continue to uphold high standards in police accountability in conducting timely, thorough, and objective investigations into allegations of police misconduct. OPA looks forward to our further engagement with accountability partners, the Community, and the Seattle Police Department in sustaining this important work.
